Do your employees and the persons you serve have the right tools and the knowledge needed for success?

In today’s labor market, it is crucial for your organization to invest in its employees by giving them the access to knowledge that will improve the organization and help guarantee their future success.

Where do your employees want their careers to go, and how can you help them get there?

With e-learning, your employees can build their careers by increasing their knowledge and skills at their own pace. Using SkillSoft’s vast online courseware, users have instant access to training and assistance any time of the year at the office, at home, or even on the road.

More than 5,900 users are reaping the benefits of this opportunity available to all CARF-accredited employment and community services organizations.

Now is the time to begin investing in a successful future for your employees and for your organization.

SkillSoft courseware is available through ARPCT membership to CARF-accredited organizations with programs supporting persons with disabilities.

Enroll in e-learning by becoming a member of The Association of Rehabilitation Programs in Computer Technology (ARPCT).

The annual $395 membership fee provides unlimited course access for all of your organization’s employees and persons served who have disabilities.

To join, go to www.arpct.org:
- Click members; then click how to join.
- Download and complete the membership application.
- Pay the membership fee.
- Designate a contact person on the application to set up your online training site.
- Your designated contact person will receive further instructions on how to enroll the individuals from your organization.

Check www.arpct.org to learn about the many other benefits of ARPCT membership.
