Congratulations for using the Consumer Action Handbook! You’ve taken the first step to being an informed consumer.

The Handbook gives you practical tips that help you with consumer issues. Maybe you want to buy a car or choose an insurance plan. Or maybe you need to learn how to write a complaint letter about a deceptive business or damaged product. The Consumer Action Handbook is a good place to start, for these tasks and many more.

To make sure the Handbook addresses the topics that matter to you, we held focus groups to hear directly from people like you. The lively conversations and comments inspired some exciting new features, including a new “Seniors” section. You’ll find agencies, hotlines, and resources that are dedicated to empowering and protecting seniors. Several people in the focus groups also said that they needed more information about scams. Now each section of the Handbook includes a box featuring the common signs of scams in that topic area, along with steps you can take to avoid being a victim, and the agencies you can contact for help.

USAGov is committed to guiding you to the tools, forms, and services you need. In addition to this Handbook and the Spanish version, the Guía del Consumidor, we offer other bilingual information. This includes our websites USA.gov and GobiernoUSA.gov, government information by phone, toll free at 1-844-USA-GOV1, email, and online chat services. Stop by USA.gov/explore to find government programs and services that can make life a little easier.

If you have questions or ideas for topics, please send them my way at askmarietta@gsa.gov or tweet them using the hashtag, #AskMarietta.

Wishing you all the best,

Marietta Jelks
Editor-in-Chief, Consumer Action Handbook
Welcome to the Consumer Action Handbook.

In an increasingly interconnected world, we have all seen a great deal of change when it comes to the way we buy, sell, and consume goods and services. Every day, American consumers make decisions that may leave a lasting impact on themselves and their families—for better or for worse.

Whether investing in a home for the future or trying to make ends meet between paychecks, it is vital to have the necessary tools to protect against irresponsible lending, deceptive practices, and fraudulent behavior. The Consumer Action Handbook helps ensure people across our Nation—no matter who they are or what financial challenges they face—know their rights and manage their finances and personal information safely and effectively.

I encourage all Americans to take advantage of this valuable resource, which is also available online at www.USA.gov/Handbook.

Sincerely,

Denise Turner Roth Administrator
QUICK CONSUMER TIPS

USING THIS HANDBOOK

This everyday guide to being a smart shopper is full of helpful tips about preventing identity theft, understanding credit, filing a consumer complaint, and more. The information and resources you will need are arranged as follows:

PART I—BE A SAVVY CONSUMER

QUICK CONSUMER TIPS

- As a savvy consumer, you should always be on the alert for shady deals and scams. Keep these things in mind to avoid becoming a victim:
  - Be wary of promises to fix your credit problems, low-interest credit card offers, deals that let you skip credit card payments, work-at-home job opportunities, risk-free investments, and free travel. A deal that sounds too good to be true usually is!
  - Don’t share personal information with someone you don’t trust. Learn how to recognize fraud.
  - Beware of payday and tax refund loans. Interest rates on these loans are usually excessive. A cash advance on a credit card may be a better option.
  - Read and understand any contract, legal document, or terms of service before you sign or click “I Agree”. Do not sign a contract with blank spaces or incomplete terms. Some contracts include a clause that prohibits you from taking legal action and requires you to engage in mandatory arbitration with a company in the case of a dispute.
  - Get estimates from several contractors for home or car repairs. Make sure the estimates are for the exact same repairs for a fair comparison.
  - Before you buy, make sure you understand and accept the store’s refund, return and early termination or cancellation policies, especially for services and facilities that charge monthly fees.
  - Double-check the final price when you pay for your purchases. Speak up if you think the price that has been charged is incorrect. Remember, when shopping online, your purchase may include additional fees, such as shipping, handling, and convenience fees that are not calculated until you check out.
  - When shopping online, look for the padlock icon in the bottom right-hand corner of your screen or a URL that begins with “https” to ensure that your payment information is transmitted securely.
  - Don’t buy under stress. Avoid making big-ticket purchases during times of duress (e.g., coping with a death or debt).
  - Notify your lender immediately if you are having difficulty making payments on loans, so that you can work out a payment plan.

BUYER BEWARE

BEFORE YOU BUY

Use this checklist BEFORE you make a purchase to avoid problems and make better decisions:

• Decide in advance exactly what you want and what you can afford.
• Do your research. Ask family, friends, and others you trust for advice based on their experience. Gather information about the seller and the item or service you are purchasing.
• Review product test results from consumer experts and comments from past customers. See Key Information Resources (p. 54).
• Get price quotes from several sellers.
• Make sure the seller has all appropriate licenses. Doctors, lawyers, contractors, and other service providers must register with a state or local licensing agency.
• Check out a company’s complaint record with your local consumer affairs office (p. 106).
• Get a written copy of guarantees and warranties.
• Get the seller’s refund, return, and cancellation policies.
• Ask whom to contact if you have a question or problem.
• Read and understand any contract or legal document you are asked to sign or give agreement to online (by clicking “I Agree”). Make sure there are no blank spaces or incomplete terms. Insist that any extras you are promised be put in writing.
• Consider paying by credit card. If you have a problem, you can dispute a charge made on your credit card (p. 15).
• Don’t buy on impulse or under pressure; this includes donating to charity.
• Check your browser settings when shopping online if you don’t want your shopping history shared with data brokers.
• If you are buying a subscription or membership, find out if it is renewed automatically and how to cancel.

WARRANTIES

A warranty is the promise that a manufacturer or seller makes to stand behind a product’s quality. Federal law requires that warranties be available for you to read before you buy, even when you are shopping by catalog or on the Internet, so that you can comparison shop. A standard warranty is part of the item you purchased. There is no additional cost for this protection from the company. There are three main types of warranties:

• Written warranties are printed and come along with the item you purchased. In order for a written warranty to take effect, or to make a claim against it, the seller or manufacturer may require you to perform specific maintenance or that you use the item as instructed.
• Spoken warranties are verbally communicated to you by a salesperson, or other staff at a retailer or service provider, for services like free repairs. If you receive this kind of warranty, have the person who gave it, and their manager, put it in writing. Otherwise, you may not be able to get the service that was promised to you.
• Implied warranties promise that the item you purchased will do what it is supposed to do and that it can work under the circumstances that it was designed for. These warranties are created by state laws, and are not specifically stated or written.

If you purchase an item and it doesn't have a written warranty, it is still covered under the implicit warranty laws in your state, unless it was marked “as is” when you purchased it. Ask a seller when the warranty period starts, before you buy. The warranty often begins on the date of purchase, but it could start the date the product was manufactured.

QUICK TIPS FOR AVOIDING FRAUD

There are many varieties of consumer fraud, but the most common ones are variations of fake check scams, credit repair, free trip offers, and sweepstakes. Here are some tips to help you avoid being a victim:

• Don’t give out personal information. Be suspicious of anyone you don’t know who asks for your Social Security number, birthdate, credit card number, bank account number, password, or other personal data.
• Don’t be intimidated. Be suspicious of calls or emails that want you to provide or verify personal information immediately. Answer that you are not interested and hang up or don’t reply to the email.
• Monitor your accounts. Review bank and credit card statements carefully, and report unauthorized transactions to your financial institution immediately.
• Use a shredder. Tear or shred credit offers, bank statements, insurance forms, and other papers with personal information.
• Ignore unsolicited offers. Don’t respond if someone you do not know asks you to send money or money orders to claim a prize, lottery, credit card, loan or other valuable offer.
CHECK FOR RECALLS
Before you buy a product, especially a used or second-hand item, check that it has not been recalled for safety or health reasons. Some recalls ban the sale of an item, while others ask consumers to return the item for replacement or repair. Check for recalls through media outlets, individual manufacturers, and these government websites:

- www.recalls.gov lists government-initiated recalls from federal agencies.
- www.nhtsa.gov publishes safety information on vehicles and equipment such as children’s car seats.
- www.fsis.usda.gov lists recalls that involve meat, poultry, or processed egg products.
- www.fda.gov lists recalls that involve food, medicines, medical devices, cosmetics, biologics, radiation emitting products, veterinary drugs, and pet food.

Service Contracts and Extended Warranties
Service contracts or “extended warranties” extend the guarantee or promise that a product will work, and are an additional purchase. Sellers offer these service contracts at the time of purchase, and sometimes months or years after your purchase. They are commonly offered when you buy a car, major electronics, or household appliances. Third-party firms (not the manufacturer or the seller) may also try to sell you an extended warranty; some even make cold calls to you with high pressure sales tactics. Some extended warranties duplicate the warranty coverage that you get automatically from a manufacturer or seller. These add-ons may not be worth the cost. Ask these questions before you buy an extended warranty:

- Does the seller, the manufacturer, or another company back the service contract?
- How are claims handled? Who will do the work, and where will it be done?
- What happens to your coverage if the dealer or administrator goes out of business?
- Do you need prior authorization for repair work?
- Are there any situations when coverage can be denied? You may not have protection from common wear and tear, or if you failed to follow recommendations for routine maintenance.

Remember, an extended warranty doesn’t cover pre-existing conditions, so make sure to have an item checked out before you buy.

Problems with Warranties
If you have problems receiving the services that were promised in your warranty, you can report your dispute. First read your warranty to make sure you know your rights. Then you can file a complaint with the retailer; if the retailer cannot help, contact the manufacturer. If neither the retailer nor manufacturer can help, file a complaint with your local consumer protection agency (p. 106).
Visit www.consumer.ftc.gov/articles/0252-warranties for more information about warranties.

SHOPPING FROM HOME
Late delivery, shipment of wrong or damaged items, and hidden costs are common complaints when you shop from home. To avoid problems and resolve them more easily, follow the advice in the Before You Buy checklist (p. 2). In addition, here are some general tips:

- Be wary of post office boxes and sellers in other countries. It may be difficult to find the seller to resolve a problem later.
- Know the total price. Make sure it includes all charges, shipping, handling, insurance, and taxes. Coupons and other discounts should be deducted properly.
- Be clear on what you are buying. Watch for words such as “refurbished,” “reconditioned,” “closeout,” or “discontinued.”
- Prepare to provide the security code on the back of your credit card. The merchant may ask for that number to ensure that the card is in your possession.
- Keep a record of your purchase. Save any information the seller gives you, such as order confirmation number, shipping tracking number, etc.

REWARD PROGRAMS
Retailers, airlines, and hotels offer reward programs. You can earn and redeem points for merchandise, discounts, gift cards, free shipping, and other benefits. There are even some multi-brand reward programs that allow you to earn points when shopping at one company and use them at several other companies. Before you sign up for that next key fob, ask:

- Do you have to register the card in order to earn or redeem points?
- Do you agree to let the retailer track your purchase behavior, through the program?
- Do your rewards expire?
- Do you shop at the company often enough to reap the benefits of the program?
- Does the program offer rewards that you would use?
- Are you required to apply for or use a branded credit card to participate in the reward program?
- Are there peak times when you can earn double or triple points on your purchases?

Remember, reward points are like cash; they can be used to purchase flights, gift cards, and other valuable services. Unfortunately, hackers know this too and try to access legitimate rewards accounts with the login and passwords. Do your part to secure your reward accounts by using strong passwords, and report any activity that you didn’t authorize to the sponsoring company.
SHOPPING WITH VIRTUAL CURRENCY

Virtual currencies, or cryptocurrencies, are a way to track, store, and send value over the Internet. Some online sellers and mobile apps accept virtual currencies as a form of payment. Before you click “Buy Now”, ask:

- How much will one unit buy? Unlike cash or credit cards, there is no set value for virtual currencies. The value can change drastically, depending on demand. This can cause significant changes in the price of an item or what a unit of virtual currency can buy.
- Is the seller reputable? Some sellers accept these forms of payment, but don’t deliver the item you purchased.
- Can you return or exchange merchandise? You may not be able to do so if you paid with virtual currencies. Check the seller’s return and exchange policies.
- Are there protections from fraud? Credit cards limit your liability for unauthorized purchases at $50, but virtual currencies don’t have the same protections.
- Who actually accepts the cryptocurrencies? In some cases, an intermediary accepts them and converts them to US dollars for the seller. This can affect when you receive your merchandise or your ability to make returns.
- How is your information protected? All purchases made with virtual currencies are recorded in a public ledger. This ledger includes the address of your virtual currency wallet, which can be traced to you. Find out how your purchase information is secured.

product description, delivery date, cancellation policy, privacy policy, and warranties.

Keep track of your order. If it’s late, you have the right to cancel and demand a refund.

Your Rights

When you order something by mail, phone, or online, the Federal Trade Commission (FTC) requires the company to:

- Ship the merchandise within the time promised, or if no specific delivery time was stated, within 30 days of receiving your order.
- Notify you if the shipment cannot be made on time and give you the option of waiting longer or getting a refund.
- Cancel your order and return your payment if the new shipping date cannot be met, unless you agree to another delay.

If you cancel your order, your money must be refunded within seven days; if you charged the order on a credit card, your account must be credited within one billing cycle. The company cannot substitute a store credit. If you applied for a credit account with the merchant at the same time that you placed your order, the company has an extra 20 days to ship the merchandise to allow time for processing your credit application.

These FTC rules only apply to the first shipment of magazine subscriptions or other merchandise you receive repeatedly. Your state may also have rules that apply. Report suspected violations to your state or local consumer protection agency (p. 106) and to the FTC (p. 102).

3-Day Cooling-Off Rule

This federal law protects consumers in their homes during door-to-door sales pitches, or in temporary business locations. The 3-Day Cooling-Off Rule does not apply to the purchase of new automobiles or items sold online. It only applies when a company is selling something that costs $25 or more at your home or more than $130 at other temporary business locations.

To comply with the 3-Day Cooling-Off Rule, a seller must inform buyers of their right to cancel the sale and receive a full refund within three business days.

Be aware that there are situations in which the Cooling-Off Rule does not apply:

- You made the purchase entirely by mail, online, or telephone.
- The sale was the result of prior contact you had at the seller’s permanent business location.
- You signed a document waiving your right to cancel.
- Your purchase is not primarily for personal, family, or household use.
- You were buying real estate, insurance, securities, or a motor vehicle.
- You cannot return the item in a condition similar to how you received it.

Remember, if you paid by credit card and have difficulty getting your refund, you may also be able to dispute the charge with your credit card company under the Fair Credit Billing Act. See Credit Card Billing Disputes (p. 15).

Online Shopping

Online shopping websites often offer great deals, variety, and convenience. However, consumers need to be careful and make informed decisions about their purchases. Some tips for shopping safely online:

- Stick to websites that are known or recommended.
- Compare prices and deals, including free shipping, extended service contracts, or other offers.
- Search for online coupons, known as promo codes, which may offer discounts or free shipping.
- Get a complete description of the item and parts included, and the price, including shipping. Also find out the delivery time, warranty information, return policy, and complaint procedure.
- Read reviews from other consumers and independent experts.
- Pay with a credit card. Federal law protects you if you need to dispute charges, but it does not apply to debit... cards, checks, cash, money orders, and some mobile payment apps, or other forms of payment.

- Use a secure browser. Look for a URL that starts with “https” rather than “http.” Also look for a closed padlock icon, usually in the lower right-hand corner of the screen.
- Avoid making online purchases on public Wi-Fi hotspots; these may not be secure, and your payment information could be stolen over the network.
- Print or save your purchase order with details of the product and your confirmation number.

Visit www.onguardonline.gov for more online shopping information.

AFTER YOU BUY

Even careful buyers can run into problems after a purchase. To minimize them, follow these steps after you buy:

- Save all papers that come with your purchase. Keep all contracts, sales receipts, canceled checks, owner’s manuals, and warranty documents.
- Read and follow product and service instructions. The way you use or take care of a product might affect your warranty rights.
- You may be able to get a refund for the difference if the price of the item you bought has decreased within a certain number of days.
- Find out how to dispute a purchase, based on if you paid with cash, credit, or a mobile app or payment device.

If you paid using an app connected to your credit or debit card, then you can dispute any purchase, just like any other credit card purchase (p. 15).

Returns

Sometimes you may need to return an item to a retailer. Most retailers allow you to make returns, within a set number of days after purchase. You may be required to have the receipt, the item, and any packaging.

Refunds are normally given in the same form of payment that was used to buy the item. If you don’t have a receipt, the store may give you a gift card instead. A store may charge you a restocking fee if you return electronics or appliances.

If you return to a physical store, the customer service staff may ask to see and swipe your driver’s license. This allows the store access to your personal information, such as your address, birthdate, and driver’s license number. This action can put your personal information at risk. Ask if this step is necessary to process your refund.

To return an item you bought online, find out if you can return it to the retailer’s physical store that is near you. If that’s not be possible, check the website to find out if return shipping is free and use the return labels provided.

If you bought items with a gift card and need to make multiple returns, the gift card issuer may flag the card for fraud and lock it, so that it can’t be used.

Your bank accounts are primary ways to store your money, pay your bills, and build your savings. When you shop for a bank, consider the actual products and services, location of branches, and online and mobile banking features.

SAVINGS AND CHECKING

When it comes to finding a safe place to put your money, there are a lot of options. Savings accounts, checking accounts, certificates of deposit (CD), and money market accounts are popular choices. Each has different rules and benefits that fit different needs. The bank or credit union must provide you with the account terms and conditions when you open your account. When choosing the one that is right for you, consider:

Minimum deposit requirements. Do you have to keep a minimum dollar amount in your account to earn interest or avoid account maintenance fees?

Limits on withdrawals. Can you take money out whenever you want? Are there any penalties for doing so?

Interest. Can you earn interest on your accounts? How frequently is it paid (monthly, quarterly)? Check with banks or credit unions to see and compare their current published rates.

Online bill pay. Can you pay your bills directly from your bank or credit union’s website?

Deposit insurance. Is the bank insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (FDIC)? Is the credit union insured by the National Credit Union Share Insurance Fund? You are insured up to $250,000 per financial institution. If you have a joint account, that account is covered separately for $250,000.

Mobile banking. Can you access your accounts and make deposits from your mobile phone or tablet? Does the bank charge fees for this access?

Convenience. Are there branches or ATMs close to where you work and live? Can you bank by phone or Internet?

Money transfer. Does the bank have a system that lets you transfer money to your accounts at other banks or to other people?

If you are considering a checking account or another type of account with check-writing privileges, add these items to your list of things to think about:

Number of checks. Is there a maximum number of checks you can write per month without incurring a charge?

Check fees. Does the account have a monthly fee or a charge for each check you write?

Holds on checks. Is there a waiting period for checks to clear before you can withdraw the money from your account?

Debit card fees. Are there fees for using your debit card?

Account fees. Does the bank charge maintenance, withdrawal, or minimum balance fees on your checking or savings account?

Overdrafts and Bounced Checks

What happens if you try to cash a check, withdraw money, or use your debit card for an amount greater than the amount of money in your account? It depends on whether or not you opted in for overdraft protection:

- If you did not opt in, your bank will reject the payment and not pay on your behalf, and no fee is charged.
- If you opted in for overdraft transfer protection, your bank will transfer money from your savings account or a line of credit, for a fee.
- If you opted in for overdraft protection, your bank will pay for transactions and charge you a fee for each payment it covers for you.

Go to www.fdic.gov/consumers/overdraft for more information.

Transaction Reordering

Some banks reorder the processing of your daily transactions. Instead of processing your payments and deposits in the order that you made them, the bank can reorder them based on type (check, electronic payment) or size (larger amounts processed first) of the debit. Transaction reordering can cause your account to have insufficient funds to cover your purchases, even if you made a deposit on the same day. If you have opted in for overdraft protection, your bank could cover the purchases, but would charge you a fee for each instance.

MOBILE BANKING

Many banks allow you to do your banking from your mobile phone or tablet. Your bank may have a mobile app to make it easy to keep a close track on your finances, pay bills, or transfer funds right from your smart phone. To get the best of these benefits and protect yourself:

- Make sure that your mobile device and your banking app are password protected.
- Access your accounts on secured connections.
- Sign up for text message alerts to know when transactions hit your account, or if your account balance goes below a minimum threshold.
- Use the fraud protection features, so you will know when someone, other than you, tries to change your password or account information.

Take extra care if you use mobile banking apps to transfer money between you and a seller, or another consumer. Your bank may show that the funds were transferred immediately, but it may take a few days for the transaction to clear. If someone is paying you, he or she could reverse the transaction during that waiting period, and you wouldn't get the money. Or a seller could collect on your mobile payment without delivering the item you purchased.

Mobile Deposits

You can take a picture of a check with your smart phone’s camera, and then use your bank’s mobile app to upload and deposit it in your account. Remember, just because you make a deposit through your mobile app doesn’t mean that the funds are immediately available. Some banks hold the funds on mobile deposits for more than a week, before the funds are available to you. This wait time is longer than the standard one or two day funds hold for a deposit made at a local branch or ATM. This extended hold can cause you to overdraft your account. Before you snap that picture of your check:

- Find out your bank’s rules on the timing of funds availability for mobile deposits.
- Hold on to the physical check, just in case there is a problem. After it has cleared, you should shred it.
- Find out if there are fees to use this feature. If so, is it monthly, or per transaction?
- Upload the check over a secured network, to protect your account and that of the person who wrote you the check.
- Read your bank’s terms and conditions for mobile deposits.

Contact the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (p. 102) for more information on mobile banking.

ATM/DEBIT CARDS

With a debit card and personal identification number (PIN), you can use an Automated Teller Machine (ATM) to withdraw cash, make deposits, or transfer funds between accounts. Some ATMs charge a fee if you are not a member of the ATM network, or are making a transaction at a remote location.

Retail purchases can also be made with a debit card. You enter your PIN or sign for the purchase. Although a debit

PROTECT YOUR PIN

Beware of “shoulder surfers.” Be suspicious of anyone lurking around an ATM or watching over your shoulder while you use your debit, ATM, or chip and PIN credit card. Some thieves even put a device over the card slot of an ATM or gas station pump to read the magnetic strip and record your PIN; this is known as “skimming.” If you suspect criminal activity, walk away and use a different ATM.
card looks like a credit card, the money for the purchase is transferred immediately from your bank account to the store’s account. When you use a debit card, federal law does not give you the right to stop payment; you must resolve problems directly with the seller.

If you suspect your debit card has been lost or stolen, call the card issuer immediately. While federal law limits your liability for a lost or stolen credit card to $50, your liability for unauthorized use of your ATM or debit card can be much greater, depending on how quickly you report the loss.

- If you report a debit card missing before it is used, you are not responsible for any unauthorized withdrawals.
- Your liability is limited to $50 if you report the loss within two business days after you realize your debit card is missing. It increases to $500 if you report the loss between two and 60 days.
- If you have not reported an unauthorized use of a debit or ATM card within 60 days after your bank mails the statement documenting the unauthorized use, you could lose all of the money in your bank account as well as the unused portion of your line of credit established for overdrafts.
- Sign up for text message or email alerts each time your debit card is used, so that you can know immediately if it has been used fraudulently.

Check the policies of your card issuer; some offer more generous limits on a voluntary basis.

UNSO LECITED CHECKS AND CREDIT OFFERS

If you cash an unsolicited check, you could be agreeing to pay for products or services you do not want or need. In addition, those “guarantees” for credit cards or loans, without consideration of credit history, are probably a scam. Legitimate lenders never guarantee credit.

Legitimate offers of credit often come in the form of “convenience checks,” which credit card companies enclose with your monthly statement. However, convenience checks may carry higher fees, a higher interest rate, and other restrictions. If you do not want the checks, be sure to shred them to protect yourself from “dumpster divers” and identity thieves.

Watch out for checks from someone in a foreign country who claims that you have won a foreign lottery, checks for

MOBILE PAYMENTS

You can pay for purchases through digital wallets stored in your smart phone, apps, a key fob, or even a watch. These items store your credit or debit card numbers. When it’s time to pay, you just hold your device near a mobile payment terminal.

Since your credit or debit card is linked to your payment app, the protections against fraudulent purchases are the same as they would be if your actual card was used.

Before you decide to use these services, find out if your phone has the chip that enables mobile payments. You also need to know if your card issuer participates in that mobile payment service. Some questions to ask:

- Does the device transmit your credit card numbers or send a device-specific account number to the retailer?
- How does the mobile payment provider protect your privacy?
- Is there a PIN or fingerprint needed to access or use your mobile payment service?
- Is it possible to freeze your wallet if your phone is lost or stolen? Can this be done remotely?
- How do you dispute a purchase?

B E W A R E : C A R D C R A C K I N G

“Need cash fast?” Scammers post these ads on social media, often targeting college students, newly enlisted military personnel, and other young adults that need money.

The scammer claims that they need your help to deposit a check. He or she will ask you to to deposit it and send them your ATM card and PIN, so they can withdraw the money. In exchange for your help, they promise to give you some of the check’s funds.

Once you deposit the check, the scammer withdraws the money from your account at an ATM. However, they withdraw the money before the entire amount of the check has cleared, and before the bank verifies that the check was actually counterfeit.

In the end you lose. Since it was your account, you have to repay the bank the amount of the fake check. You don’t get the portion of the check, as promised. In addition to losing your money, and your privacy, you could also face penalties for participating in bank fraud.

Take easy steps to protect yourself from these scams:

- Beware of offers involving check deposits.
- Don’t click on “need cash” posts on social media.
- Don’t share your bank account, online banking login information, debit card, and PIN with anyone.

Report the ad as suspicious to the social media website and the Federal Trade Commission (p. 102). investment opportunities, or online purchases. These could be scams. Even if you deposit the check, the check may be illegal. Don’t rely on money from a check, especially foreign or unsolicited, until your bank says the check has cleared.

PREPAID CARDS

Prepaid cards, also known as prepaid debit, or stored value cards are convenient ways to make purchases and conduct other financial transactions. You do not need to have a bank account or a credit history to use a prepaid card. Read the card’s terms and conditions before you buy.

Many cards carry protections similar to credit and debit cards. To obtain these benefits, you must follow the instructions for registering and activating your card. Be sure to record your card information, including the customer service telephone number, in a separate place, so you can get a replacement if your card is lost or stolen. Some prepaid card issuers may charge fees for card activation, maintenance, and cash withdrawals.

Gift cards, a type of prepaid card, have extra protections, including that funds on the card can’t expire within five years of when it was activated. However, if you don’t use the card, the money stored on it can be sent to the unclaimed money office in your state or the state where the card issuer is incorporated. Visit www.usa.gov/unclaimed-money to locate missing money.

If you have a problem with a prepaid card, first contact the customer service number. Some cards are issued by state or national banks. If the problem still is not resolved with the bank or issuer, file a complaint with the proper authorities listed in the chart:

BANKING SCAMS

Be aware of these common signs of a scam:

- A company sets up automatic withdrawals from your account that you didn’t approve.
- Fake requests to verify your bank account number, password, or PIN. This is known as phishing.
- Requests for you to deposit a check into your account, as part of a fake lottery or sweepstakes.

Take steps to protect yourself:

- Don’t give your bank account number as part of a lottery or sweepstake entry or for “free” offers.
- Don’t reply to requests, by email or phone, to verify your bank account.
- Don’t deposit checks from people you don’t know.

For more information or to file a complaint, contact:

- Your bank or credit union’s fraud department.
- The Federal Trade Commission (p. 102).

CARS

BUYING A CAR

Whether you are buying or leasing a vehicle, these tips will help you get the best deal and avoid problems:

- Decide what kind of vehicle best suits your needs and budget.
- Check out the seller. Research car dealers with your state or local consumer protection agency (p. 106) and Better Business Bureau (p. 67). If you are buying from an individual, check the title to make sure you are dealing with the vehicle’s owner.
- Take a test drive. Drive at different speeds and check for smooth right and left turns. On a straight stretch, make sure the vehicle does not pull to one side.
- Handle trade-ins and financing separately from your purchase to get the best deal on each. Get a written price quote before you talk about a trade-in or dealer financing.
• Shop in advance and compare financing options at your credit union, bank, or finance company. Look at the total finance charges and the Annual Percentage Rate (APR), not just the monthly payment.
• Ask what jargon, like “all-new”, “redesigned”, “next generation” really mean in terms of a car’s appearance, structure, and performance.
• Read and understand every document you are asked to sign.
• Don’t take possession of the car until all paperwork is final.
• Choose an auto insurance policy that is right for you (p. 30).

Buying a New Car
Do your research first and compare vehicles.
• Research the dealer’s price for the car and options available. It is easier to get the best price when you know what the dealer paid for a vehicle. The dealer invoice price is available on a number of websites and in printed pricing guides. Try to locate the wholesale price; this figure factors in dealer incentives from a manufacturer and is a more accurate estimate of what a dealer is paying for a vehicle.
• Find out whether the manufacturer is offering rebates that will lower the cost of the vehicle.

Choosing a Safe Vehicle
Crash tests can help you determine how well a vehicle will protect you in a crash. These organizations perform crash tests and rate vehicles:
• The National Highway Traffic Safety Administration. Each year, NHTSA (www.nhtsa.gov) crashes vehicles head-on into a wall and bashes them broadside to test their ability to protect their occupants. NHTSA focuses on evaluating vehicle restraints such as air bags and safety belts.
• The Insurance Institute for Highway Safety. A different test by the IIHS (www.hwysafety.org) uses offset-frontal car crashes to assess the protection a vehicle’s structure provides.
• Consumer Reports. The annual auto issue of Consumer Reports (www.consumerreports.org) rates vehicles in terms of overall safety. Its safety score combines crash test results with a vehicle’s accident-avoidance factors — emergency handling, braking, acceleration, and even driver comfort.

Buying a Used Car
• To learn what rights you have when buying a used car, contact your state or local consumer protection office (p. 106).
• Contact your state's motor vehicle department to find out what paperwork you will need to register a vehicle.
• Check prices of similar models using the NADA Official Used Car Guide (www.nadaguides.com), published by the National Automobile Dealers Association, or the Kelley Blue Book (www.kbb.com). These guides are usually available at local libraries.
• Research the vehicle’s history. Ask the seller for details concerning past owners, use, and maintenance. Find out whether the car has been damaged in a flood, crash, or labeled a “lemon.” Visit www.vehiclehistory.gov to buy vehicle history reports gathered from state motor vehicle departments and other sources. These reports are helpful but aren’t a guarantee that a vehicle is accident-free. Also, visit www.safercar.gov to find out if a car has been recalled.
• Research the car’s title history with your state motor vehicle department.
• The Center for Auto Safety (www.autosafety.org) provides information on safety defect recalls, complaints, and technical service bulletins.

Government Fuel Economy Web Pages
• www.epa.gov/greenvehicles The Green Vehicle Guide tool helps you find the cleanest and most fuel-efficient vehicles to meet your needs.
• www.fueleconomy.gov compares the miles-per-gallon ratings of different vehicle models manufactured since the mid-1980s and calculates annual fuel estimates.
• www.epa.gov/carlabel allows you to compare the fuel economy of different types of vehicles (diesel, hybrid, electric, gasoline).
• Make sure any mileage disclosures match the odometer reading on the car.

• Check the warranty. If a manufacturer’s warranty is still in effect, contact the manufacturer to make sure you can use the coverage.

• Ask about the dealer’s return policy. Get it in writing and read it carefully.

• Have your mechanic inspect the car. Talk to the seller and agree in advance that you will pay for the examination if the car passes inspection, but the seller will pay if significant problems are discovered. A qualified mechanic should check the vehicle’s frame, tires, air bags, undercarriage, as well as the engine.

• Examine dealer documents carefully. Make sure you are buying—not leasing—the vehicle. Leases use terms such as “balloon payment” and “base mileage” disclosures.

Dealer Versus Private-Party Purchases

The Federal Trade Commission requires dealers to post a Buyer’s Guide in the window of each used car or truck on their lot. This guide specifies whether the vehicle is being sold “as is” (in the vehicle’s current condition, without a warranty) or with a warranty, and what percentage of repair costs a dealer will pay under the warranty. Keep in mind that private sellers generally have less responsibility than dealers do for defects or other problems. FTC rules do not apply to private-party sales.

Buying a used car from a dealer is often more expensive than buying from an individual. Many dealers inspect their cars and provide an inspection report. However, this is no substitute for your own inspection. Some dealers provide limited warranties, and most sell extended warranties. Warranties may not cover a car’s pre-existing conditions, so that’s another important reason to have the car checked by a mechanic before you buy. Watch out for dealer warranties that are “power train” warranties only, and not “bumper-to-bumper,” full-coverage warranties. Compare dealer warranties with ones that are available from other sources.

Some dealers sell “certified” cars. This generally means that the cars have had a more thorough inspection and come with a limited warranty. Prices for certified cars are generally higher. Be sure to get a list of what was inspected and what is covered under the warranty.

In general, buying a used car from a dealer is a safer option because you are dealing with an institution, which means you are better protected by law. Purchasing a car from a private seller may save you money, but there are risks. The car could be stolen, damaged, or still under a finance agreement. If a private seller lies to you about the condition of the vehicle, you may sue the individual if you have evidence. An individual is very unlikely to provide a written warranty.

FINANCING

Most buyers need some form of financing to purchase a vehicle. Many use direct lending, that is, a loan from a finance company, bank, or credit union. In direct lending, a buyer agrees to pay the amount financed, plus an agreed-upon finance charge, over a specified time period. Once a buyer and a vehicle dealership enter into a contract to purchase a vehicle, the buyer uses the loan proceeds from the direct lender to pay the dealership for the vehicle.

Another common form is dealership financing, which offers convenience and sometimes special, manufacturer-sponsored, low-rate deals. Before you make a financing decision, it is important to do your research:

• Decide your budget and stick to that limit.

• Get a copy of your credit report and correct any errors before applying for a loan.

• Check car buying guides to identify price ranges and best available deals.

• Beware of “loan packing”. This is where a dealer presses you to add features and extended warranties to drive up the amount of your loan.

• Request a loan that does not include a prepayment penalty if you pay off your loan before the loan is due.

• Ask to see the credit application, completely filled out, before you sign it. Make sure your income is reported correctly.

• Get a copy of all your signed paperwork.

More information about vehicle financing, deciding what you can afford, and consumer protections is available at www.consumer.ftc.gov/articles/0056-understanding.

BEWARE: CAR HACKING

Cars include many computer systems to make them work correctly and allow mechanics to assess how the car is performing. Some cars also have other computer systems, such as Bluetooth, navigation and entertainment systems, Wi-Fi, and key fobs. However, these innovations for convenience and comfort come with a risk. Hackers are able to use these systems to hack into your car, remotely. They can take control of important functions, like steering or braking, that can affect safety. Take steps to protect your car, your safety and other drivers on the road:

• Turn off Bluetooth or Wi-Fi when you aren’t using them.

• Ask your mechanic or dealer to install security updates and patches to make your car’s systems more secure.

• Beware of aftermarket items, such as GPS, toll devices, or driving monitoring devices from your insurance company that you plug into the car. These devices may not be as secure, making it easier for hackers to access other software in your car.
If you have a problem with a vehicle that is a safety hazard, called “secret warranties.”

to state, but the criteria to qualify as a lemon often includes these conditions:

• The defects must occur early within the car’s first year or within the first 12,000 to 15,000 miles.
• The car must have a substantial defect on parts like the engine, transmission, or steering controls.
• You have to have given repair shops a reasonable number of attempts to fix the problem.
• Your car was in a repair shop and you were unable to use it for a certain number of days within the year.

Contact your state or local consumer protection office (p. 106) to learn whether you have such protections and what steps you must take to get your problem solved. If you believe your car is a “lemon”:

• Give the dealer a list of the problems every time you bring it in for repairs.
• Get and keep copies of the repair orders listing the problems, the work done, and the dates the car was in the shop.
• Contact the manufacturer, as well as the dealer, to report the problem. Check your owner's manual or the directory of automotive manufacturers (p. 65).

The Center for Auto Safety (p. 104) gathers information and complaints concerning safety defects, recalls, technical service bulletins, and state “lemon” laws.

REPAIRS

Whenever you take a car to the repair shop:

• Choose a reliable repair shop. Family, friends, or an independent consumer-rating organization should be able to help you. Look for shops that display various certifications that are current. You should also check out the shop's record with your state or local consumer protection office (p. 106), or the Better Business Bureau (p. 63).
• Describe the symptoms. Don’t try to diagnose the problem.
• Make it clear that work cannot begin until you have an estimate (in writing, preferably) and give your okay. Never sign a blank repair order. If the problem cannot be

RECALLS, “LEMON” LAWS, AND SECRET WARRANTIES

Sometimes a manufacturer makes a design or production mistake on a motor vehicle. A technical service bulletin notifies the dealer of the problem and how to resolve it. Because these free repairs are not publicized, they are called “secret warranties.”

If you have a problem with a vehicle that is a safety hazard, check whether the manufacturer has recalled your vehicle.
diagnosed on the spot, insist that the shop contact you for authorization once it has found the problem.
• Ask the shop to return the old parts to you.
• Follow the warranty instructions if a repair is covered under warranty.
• Get all repair warranties in writing.
• Keep copies of all paperwork.
Some states, cities, and counties have special laws that deal with auto repairs. For information on the laws in your state, contact your state or local consumer protection office (p. 106). View the FTC’s consumer guide to auto repair at www.consumer.ftc.gov/articles/0211-auto-repair-basics for more information.

CAR REPOSSESSIONS
When you borrow money to buy a car or truck, the lender can take your vehicle back if you miss a payment or violate the contract. The lender:
• Can repossess with cause without advance notice.
• Can insist you pay off the entire loan balance to get the repossessed vehicle back.
• Can sell the vehicle at auction.
• Might be able to sue you for the difference between the vehicle’s auction price and what you owe.
• Cannot break into your home or physically threaten someone while taking the vehicle.
Some lenders don't repossess the actual car, but install a starter interrupt device in your car when you buy it. If you fall behind on payments, they can press a button to disable your car.
If you know you are going to be late with a payment, talk to the lender. If you and the lender reach an agreement, be sure to get the agreement in writing. Contact your state or local consumer protection office (p. 106) to find out whether your state gives you any additional rights.

RENTING
Before renting a car:
• Ask what the total cost will be after all fees are included. There may be an airport surcharge or fees for drop-off, insurance, fuel, mileage, taxes, additional-drivers, and equipment rental (for items such as GPS and car seats).
• Check in advance to be sure you are not duplicating insurance coverage. If you decline coverage, make sure to get it in writing to prevent surprise charges. You might also have coverage through your personal auto insurance (p. 30), a motor club membership, or the credit card you use to reserve the rental.
• Review your rental receipt to make sure that you were not charged for services you did not request.
• Carefully inspect the vehicle and its tires before renting, and when you return it. Try to return the car during regular hours so you and the rental staff can look at the car together to verify that you did not damage it.
• Check refueling policies and charges. Some rental companies, particularly at airports, may require you to refuel within a 10 mile radius of the airport or show a fuel receipt when you return the car.
• Pay with a credit card rather than a debit card to avoid holds on the funds in your checking account.
Visit www.insureuonline.org/consumer_auto_car_rental_insurance.htm for more information about renting a car and the insurance options. Some states have laws to address your rights with short-term car and truck rentals. Contact your state or local consumer protection office (p. 106) for information or to file a complaint.

CAR SHARING SERVICES
Even if you do not own a car, there are times when you may need access to one. In addition to car rental companies, you can now subscribe to services offered by car sharing companies. These companies allow you to borrow a vehicle for short-term use. These car sharing services charge members on an hourly basis, as opposed to a daily or weekly rate. These services allow you to have the

CAR SCAMS
Be aware of common signs of scams:
• You received a faulty phone call and the caller pressures you to renew your warranty, even if it hasn’t expired.
• Sellers withhold important information, such as the car has sustained major damage.
• Overstated estimates for repair work.
Take steps to prevent being a victim:
• Contact your dealer about the status of warranties and service packages.
• Use vehiclehistory.gov to research a car before you buy.
• Have a car inspected by a mechanic before you buy.
• Get written estimates for repairwork.

convenience of a car when you need one, without the costs of car ownership. Do some research. Talk to subscribers or read online reviews about their experiences. Ask about:

- Fees. What fees does the company charge (annual fees, application fee)? Are they refundable, even if you cancel or are denied membership?

- Availability of cars. Are there cars available at times that you need one? How far in advance do you need to reserve a vehicle?

- Attendants. Are there on-site staff present when you check out your car and return it? This can be very helpful when you need to verify that the car is returned in the same condition as when you borrowed it.

- Fuel. Do you have to pay for gas out of your own pocket or does the company pay for it?

- Extension of time. How easy is it to extend the length of your rental? Is it done through an app or is there a dedicated customer service hotline?

- Cancellation. How far in advance must you give notice in order to cancel a reservation or your membership? Can the company cancel your membership without notification?

- Damages. Are you responsible for damages, even if they were not your fault or they happened after you returned the car? This is especially important if you return the car to a lot that does not have on-site staff.

- Insurance. Is insurance included? You may be insured by a personal policy or the credit card that you use to pay for this service.

The Equal Credit Opportunity Act protects you when dealing with creditors.

When you apply for credit, a creditor may not:

- Ask about or consider your sex, race, national origin, or religion.

- Ask about your marital status or your spouse—unless you are applying for a joint account or relying on your spouse’s income, or you live in a community property state (Arizona, California, Idaho, Louisiana, Nevada, New Mexico, Texas, Washington, or Wisconsin).

- Ask about your plans to have, or raise, children.

- Refuse to consider public assistance income, regularly received alimony, or child support.

- Refuse to consider income because of your sex or marital status, or because it is from part-time work or retirement benefits.

You have the right to:

- Have credit in your birth name, your first name and your spouse/partner’s last name, or your first name and a combined last name.

- Have a co-signer other than your spouse if one is necessary.

- Keep your own accounts after you change your name or marital status or if you retire, unless the creditor has evidence that you are unable or unwilling to pay.

- Know why a credit application is rejected—the creditor must give you the specific reasons, or tell you where and how you can get a copy of the credit report it used to determine its rejection, if you ask within 60 days.

- Have accounts shared with your spouse reported in both of your names.

- Know how much it will cost to borrow money.

LOANS

There are different types of loans. Some are secured loans, where you pledge collateral. Collateral is an item you already own, such as a house or car, that you promise to forfeit to the lender if you are unable to repay the loan. If you cannot pay back the loan, the lender will take your collateral to get their money back. Unsecured loans, such as credit cards and student loans, do not use property as collateral. Lenders consider these as more risky than secured loans, so they charge a higher interest rate for them. Two very common types of secured loans are home equity and installment loans.

Home Equity Loans

A home equity loan is a form of credit where your home is used as collateral for the loan. This type of loan is often used to pay for major expenses, such as education, medical bills, and home repairs. Consider carefully before taking out... a home equity loan. If you are unable to make payments on time, you could lose your home.

Home equity loans can be either a revolving line of credit or a lump sum. Revolving credit lets you withdraw funds when you need them. A lump sum is a one-time, closed-end loan for a particular purpose, such as remodeling or tuition. Apply for a home equity loan through a bank or credit union first. These loans are likely to cost less than those offered by finance companies.

Installment Loans
Installment loans are loans that are repaid over time with a set number of scheduled payments. The most common installment loans are home or car loans. Before you sign an agreement for a loan to buy a house, a car, or other large purchase, make sure you fully understand all of the lender’s terms and conditions, including:
• The dollar amount you are borrowing.
• The payment amounts and when they are due.
• The total finance charge, including all interest and fees you must pay to get the loan.
• The APR, the rate of interest you will pay over the full term of the loan.
• Penalties for late payments.
• What the lender will do if you cannot pay back the loan.
• Penalties if you pay the loan back early.
The Truth in Lending Act requires lenders to give you this information so you can compare different offers.

CHIP AND PIN CREDIT CARDS
Chip and PIN credit cards offer you additional fraud protections. A chip and PIN card has an embedded microchip, with your account information stored on it. This chip makes it difficult for a counterfeiter to produce a fake credit card using your payment information. These cards also use unique one time codes that are sent from the point of sale terminal in a store to the credit card approval system.

The steps to make a purchase in a store are different with a chip and PIN card, than with traditional credit cards. Instead of sliding your credit card, you insert it into the point of sale terminal for a few seconds, then enter your PIN. There are no changes in the process if you shop online or at retailers that haven’t installed chip and PIN terminals.

Even though chip and PIN credit cards have more security features, you still need to secure your credit cards. Check your statements regularly, don’t share your PIN, and report suspected fraud to your credit card issuer. For more information, visit www.consumerfinance.gov.

CREDIT CARDS
A credit card lets you buy goods and services on credit, with the promise that you will pay the issuer the amount you borrowed. Having a credit card is sometimes necessary to make travel reservations and create online accounts. Some companies, in fact, only accept credit or debit card payments. There are many types of credit cards with various features, but there is no one best credit card. The card you choose depends on how you plan to use it. Are you going to use it for everyday purchases or larger purchases? Do you plan to pay off your balance each month?

When you apply for a credit card, consider:
• Annual Percentage Rate (APR). If the interest rate is variable, how is it determined, and when can it change?
• Periodic rate. This is the interest rate used to determine the finance charge on your balance each billing period.
• Annual fee. While some cards have no annual fee, others expect you to pay an amount each year for being a cardholder.
• Rewards programs. Can you earn points for flights, hotel stays, and gift certificates to your favorite retailers? Use online tools to find the card that offers the best rewards for you. See “Reward Programs” on page 3.
• Grace period. This is the number of days you have to pay your bill before finance charges start. Without this period, you may have to pay interest from the date you use your card or the date the purchase is posted to your account.
• Finance charges. Most lenders calculate finance charges using an average daily account balance, which is the average of what you owed each day in the billing cycle. Look for offers that use an adjusted balance, which subtracts your payment from your beginning balance. This method usually has the lowest finance charges. Check whether there is a minimum finance charge.
• Other fees. Ask about fees when you get a cash advance, make a late payment, or go over your credit limit. Some credit card companies also charge a monthly fee. Be careful: sometimes companies may also try to upsell by offering other services such as credit protection, insurance, or debt coverage.
• Terms and conditions. Read the agreement before you apply for the card to make sure that you agree with the requirements, such as mandatory arbitration or repossession clauses.
• Balance carry over. Charge cards require you to pay the entire amount due at the end of the statement period. Typical credit cards allow you to carry a balance.
• Security features. Does the card issuer offer fraud alerts or text messages immediately after purchases, or let you turn your card on and off?
• Chip and PIN. Does the card issuer offer chip and PIN security features that rely on an embedded chip instead of the magnetic strip? You may need this type of card if you travel internationally. See “Chip and PIN Credit Cards” on this page.
LOST AND STOLEN CREDIT CARDS

Immediately call the card issuer when you suspect a credit or charge card has been lost or stolen. Once you report the loss or theft of a card, you have no further responsibility for unauthorized charges. In any event, your maximum liability under federal law is $50 per card.

The Fair Credit and Charge Card Disclosure Act requires credit and charge card issuers to include the interest rates, terms and conditions, and fees on credit applications. You can also do your own research. There are many websites available to help you compare credit cards; some provide free credit card tips, reviews of credit cards, and calculators.

Visit www.consumerfinance.gov/credit-cards/knowbeforeyouowe to view an interactive version of a sample credit card bill.

The Consumer Financial Protection Bureau (CFPB) provides information on selecting a credit card appropriate for your needs. See “How do I Shop for a Credit Card,” on the CFPB website, www.consumerfinance.gov/blog/how-do-i-shop-for-a-credit-card.

Complaints

Call the number on the back of your card to complain about a problem with your credit card company. If that doesn’t work, contact the CFPB (p. 93). If you fail to resolve the issue, ask for the name, address, and phone number of the card company’s regulatory agency. See the chart on page 8 to find the best federal or state regulatory agency to contact.

Contact the CFPB to complain about a credit bureau. For complaints about a department store that offers credit, or other Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (FDIC)-insured financial institution, write to the agency’s Consumer Response Center (p. 102).

Credit Card Billing Disputes

Under the Fair Credit Billing Act, you have the right to dispute charges on your credit card that you did not make, are incorrect, or are for goods or services you did not receive. To dispute these charges:

- Send a letter to the creditor within 60 days of the statement date of the bill with the disputed charge.
- Include your name and account number, the date and amount of the disputed charge, and a complete explanation of why you are disputing the charge. Send your letter by certified mail, with a return receipt requested to make sure it is received.
- Acknowledge your letter in writing within 30 days of receiving it and conduct an investigation within 90 days of receiving your letter. You do not have to pay the amount in dispute during the investigation.
- Credit your account and remove any fees, if there was an error.

If there are any inaccuracies, contact the credit reporting agency and creditor that furnished that information to get it corrected. If they don’t fix your report, you can file a complaint with the CFPB (p. 93).

ORDER YOUR FREE CREDIT REPORTS

You can request a free credit report once a year from each of the three major credit reporting agencies—Equifax, Experian, and TransUnion. If you ask the credit bureaus directly, they will charge you a fee to obtain your report. You may want to request your credit reports one at a time, every four months, so you can monitor your credit throughout the year without having to pay for a report.

Order your free report, through www.annualcreditreport.com or call 1-877-322-8228.

Check the accuracy of your credit report when you get it.

- Is your full name, social security number, birthdate, and address correct?
- Are employers, creditors, or home addresses listed that don’t belong to you?
- Are account statuses correctly reported as open, closed, or delinquent?
- Do judgments, such as liens or bankruptcies, appear correctly?

If you do not agree with the creditor’s decision, file a complaint with the CFPB. You may also file a lawsuit against the creditor, unless your credit card agreement includes a mandatory arbitration clause (p.62).

CREDIT REPORTS AND SCORES

A credit report contains past information on where you work and live, how you pay your bills, liens, and whether you have filed for bankruptcy. Credit reporting agencies (CRAs) gather this information and sell it to creditors, employers, insurers, and others. The most common type of CRA is the credit bureau. There are three major credit bureaus:

- TransUnion: 1-800-888-4213 or www.transunion.com or 1-800-680-7289 to place a fraud alert.

File a complaint with the CFPB (p. 93) if you have a problem or dispute with a credit reporting agency.

Credit Scores

A credit score is a number that lenders and other companies use to evaluate your credit risk, at one point in time. Scores generally range between 300 and 850. The higher your score, the less risk you pose to creditors.
Credit scores are based on the information in your credit reports, such as:

- Payment history. Do you pay your debt on time?
- Available credit. What is the total amount of credit available across all of your accounts?
- Credit utilization. How much of your available credit are you using?
- Inquiries and new accounts. Have you recently applied for credit or purchased items that required a company to review your credit reports?
- Type of accounts. What is the mix between your mortgage, car loans, credit cards, and other credit accounts?
- Length of your credit history. What is the age of your oldest and newest accounts, along with the average across all accounts?

There is no universal credit score; there are different versions, created by different companies. Each credit score provider uses their own formula to create a score for you and places different amounts of emphasis on these factors. Although you can get your credit reports for free from www.annualcreditreport.com, you normally have to pay to get your credit score. Some credit card issuers include the credit score to card holders on their credit card statement.

Tips for Building a Better Credit History

- Pay your bills on time. Delinquent payments and collections negatively affect your score.
- Keep balances low on credit cards and other “revolving credit.” High outstanding debt lowers your score.
- Apply for and open new credit accounts only as needed. Don’t open an account just to have a better credit mix; it probably will not raise your score.
- Pay off debt instead of moving it around.

You do not rebuild your credit score; you rebuild your credit history. Time is your ally in improving your credit. There is no “quick fix” for a bad credit score, so be suspicious of any deals that offer you a fast, easy solution.

Negative Information in Your Credit Report

Negative information concerning your use of credit can be kept in your credit report for several years. If the information is accurate, only time, hard work, and a personal debt repayment plan will improve your credit history. A bankruptcy can be kept on your credit report for 10 years, paid tax liens for seven years and unpaid tax liens indefinitely. Information about a lawsuit or an unpaid judgment against you can be reported for seven years or until the statute of limitations runs out, whichever is longer. Inquiries remain on your report for two years.

Other negative items that can land on your credit report are outstanding parking fines and local government debts. If a company denies you credit, housing, insurance, or a job as a result of a credit report it must give you the name, address, and telephone number of the CRA that provided the report. Under the Fair Credit Reporting Act (FCRA), you have the right to request a free report within 60 days if a company denies you credit based on the report.

Incorrect Information in Your Credit Report

If there is inaccurate or incomplete information in your credit report:

- Contact the CRA and the company that provided the information.
- Tell the CRA in writing what information you believe is inaccurate. Keep a copy of all correspondence.
- You can upload, mail, or fax any important documents (paid bill, letter stating that a bill has been paid) about your report to the major credit reporting agency’s online dispute website when you submit your dispute.

Under the FCRA, the information provider is required to investigate and report the results to the credit reporting agency. If the information is found to be incorrect, the FCRA requires that company to notify all nationwide credit reporting agencies to correct your file. If the investigation does not solve your dispute, ask that your statement concerning the dispute be included in your file. A notice of your dispute must be included whenever the credit reporting agency reports the negative item. If the creditor that supplied the information about you goes out of business, or can’t confirm its accuracy, the credit reporting agency must remove the item from your credit report.

DEALING WITH DEBT

To reduce your amount of debt, you can do some work on your own. First, develop a realistic budget so you can see your income and expenses in one place and look for ways to save money. Contact your creditors and inform them that you are having difficulty making payments; they may be able to modify your payment plan. For help in creating a budget, visit www.mymoney.gov or www.consumer.gov/articles/1002-making-budget#!/what-it-is.

Debt Collection

The Fair Debt Collection Practices Act applies to those who collect debts owed to creditors for personal, family, and household expenditures. These debts include car loans, mortgages, charge accounts, and money owed for medical bills. A debt collector is someone hired to collect money you owe.

Within five days after a debt collector first contacts you, the collector must send you a written notice that tells you the name of the creditor, how much you owe, and what action to take if you believe you do not owe the money. If you owe the money or part of it, contact the creditor to arrange for payment. If you believe you do not owe the money, contact the creditor in writing and send a copy to the collection agency with a letter telling it not to contact you.

A debt collector may not:

- Contact you at unreasonable times, for example, before 8 am or after 9 pm, unless you agree.
• Contact you at work if you tell the debt collector your employer disapproves.
• Contact you after you write a letter telling the collector to stop, except to notify you if the collector or creditor plans to take a specific action.
• Contact your friends, relatives, employer, or others, except to find out where you live and work.
• Harass you with repeated telephone calls, profane language, or threats to harm you.
• Make any false statement or claim that you will be arrested.
• Threaten to have money deducted from your paycheck or to sue you, unless the collection agency or creditor intends to do so and it is legal.

File a complaint about a debt collection company with the Consumer Financial Protection Bureau (p. 93), the Federal Trade Commission (p. 102) and your state or local consumer protection agency (p. 106).

Credit Counseling Services
Counseling services are available to help you budget money and pay bills. Credit unions, extension offices, military family service centers, and religious organizations are among those that may offer free or low-cost credit counseling.

Some local nonprofit agencies provide educational programs on money management and can help you develop debt payment plans. Make certain that the agency is accredited by a nationally recognized association of credit counselors.

Typically, a counseling service will negotiate lower payments with your creditors, and then make the payments using money you send to it each month. The cost of setting up this debt-management plan is paid by the creditor, not you. Ask these questions to find the best counselor for you:
• What services do you offer? Look for an organization that offers budget counseling and money management classes as well as debt-management planning.
• Do you offer free information? Avoid organizations that charge for information or make you provide a lot of details about your problem first.

• What are your fees? Are there set-up and/or monthly fees? Beware of agencies that charge large up-front fees.
• How will the debt-management plan work? What debts can be included in the plan, and will you get regular reports on your accounts?
• Can they negotiate with creditors to lower or eliminate interest and fees? If the answer is yes, contact your creditors to verify the agreement.
• Are the counseling fees mandatory or is it possible to get services for a reduced price or for free? If an organization will not help you because you cannot afford to pay, go somewhere else for help.
• Will the counselor help you prevent future debt problems? Getting a plan for avoiding future debt is as important as solving the immediate debt problem.
• Ask for a contract. All verbal promises should be in writing before you pay any money.
• Are your counselors accredited or certified? Legitimate credit counseling firms are affiliated with the National Foundation for Credit Counseling (p. 137), Association of Credit Counseling Professionals (p. 135), or the Financial Counseling Association of America (p. 136).

Check with your local consumer protection agency (p. 106) and the Better Business Bureau (p. 67) to see whether any complaints have been filed about the counseling service you are considering.

Contact the U.S. Trustee Program at www.justice.gov/ust or call 202-514-4100 if you have concerns about approved credit counseling agencies or credit counseling providers.

Credit repair companies advertise that they can erase bad credit for a hefty fee. Don’t believe it. Under the Credit Repair Organizations Act, credit repair companies cannot require you to pay until they have completed promised services. They must also give you:

- A written contract that spells out your rights and obligations.
- Three days to cancel without paying any fees.

Some credit repair companies promise to help you establish a whole new credit identity. You can be charged with fraud if you use the mail or telephone to apply for credit with false information. It is also a federal crime to make false statements on a loan or credit application, to give a false Social Security number, or to obtain an Employer Identification Number from the Internal Revenue Service under false pretenses. Contact your state consumer affairs office (p. 106) if you were the victim of a credit repair scam.

PAYING FOR COLLEGE

Many state governments have created 529 Plans that help families save for their child's education. These plans allow you to save, while the earnings grow tax-free. There are two main types: “prepaid tuition plans” and “college savings plans.” Prepaid plans allow you to pay for your child’s college tuition based on today’s costs, and then pay out at the future (higher) cost once it’s time to enroll in college. College savings plans allow you to invest money in several investment funds, ranging in risk level, to pay for college education. There may also be tax benefits, such as credit and deductions, when you contribute to some college savings plans. Visit www.collegesavings.org for more information.

Resources

The U.S. Department of Education’s website, www.studentaid.ed.gov, provides information on preparing for and funding education beyond high school with details on federal aid programs. The Consumer Financial Protection Bureau offers tools and calculators at www.consumerfinance.gov/paying-for-college that allow you to compare financial aid offers, and interactive wizards to create a plan for repaying student loans. The website www.finaid.org offers calculators to help you determine how much school will cost, how much you need to save, and how much aid you will need.

Here are steps you can take as you plan for college expenses. Check the Department of Education’s infographic that shows how to apply for financial aid and college at studentaid.gov/sites/default/files/financial-aid-process.png. Also, the National Association of Student Financial Aid Administrators provides advice, tips, and information on financing your education at www.nasfaa.org.

Financial Aid

Student financial aid is available from a variety of sources, including the federal government, individual states, colleges and universities, and other public and private agencies and organizations. The four basic types of college aid are:

- Grants. Gift aid that does not have to be repaid and is generally awarded according to financial need.
- Work-Study. The Federal Work-Study Program (FWS) is a federally funded source of financial assistance used to offset financial education costs. Students who qualify

Beware: Automatic Default on Student Loans

Private student loans can be a needed financial resource to pay for college. Private lenders require borrowers to have a co-signer to qualify for these loans. Unfortunately, if your co-signer files for bankruptcy or dies, you could have an automatic default, with the lender requiring you to pay the entire loan amount immediately.

An automatic default can place a strain on your budget and negatively impact your credit report.

Ask your lender if they offer a co-signer release on their loans, after a set period of time or after you make a certain number of on-time payments. The Consumer Financial Protection Bureau (CFPB) offers a sample co-signer release letter at files.consumerfinance.gov/f/201404_cfpb_inquiry-letter_how-to-release-cosigner.doc to help you with the request. If your lender will not help you, file a complaint with the CFPB (p. 93).
earn money by working while attending school. This money does not have to be repaid.

- Scholarships. Funds are offered by the school, local or community organizations, private institutions, and trusts. Scholarships do not have to be repaid and are generally awarded based on specific criteria.

- Loans. Funds are borrowed and must be repaid with interest. As a general rule, federal student loans have more favorable terms and lower interest rates than traditional consumer loans.

Applying for Aid

You must complete and submit a Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) to apply for federal student aid. FAFSA on the Web is the quickest and easiest method of applying. Go to www.fafsa.gov to apply.

Some companies offer to help you find scholarships or complete your FAFSA application, for a fee. If the company asks you for money up front, but does not deliver on its promises to find scholarships, it could be a scam. Learn more about financial aid scams at www.studentaid.ed.gov/types/scams.

Federal Student Aid Information Center

The Federal Student Aid Information Center (FSAIC) can answer your federal student financial aid questions and give you all the help you need for free. You can also use the FSAIC automated response system to find out whether your FAFSA has been processed and to request a copy of your Student Aid Report (SAR). For FSAIC contact information, see page 94.

Federal Loan Program Repayment Information

- Public Service Loan Forgiveness Program. Offers forgiveness for outstanding federal loans for individuals working full time in public service jobs.

- Income-Based Repayment Plan. Helps to make repaying education loans more affordable for low-income borrowers.

Both programs offer generous benefits, but the rules can be complex, so it is important to get all of the details. For more information on these programs as well as other repayment options, visit these resources:

- U.S. Department of Education/Federal Student Aid: www.studentaid.ed.gov/repay-loans
- National Association of Student Financial Aid Administrators: www.nasfaa.org

Comparing Student Loans

Not all student loans are the same, especially federal and private loans. Federal student loans are offered through the U.S. Department of Education. Private loans are offered by banks, credit unions, or schools. Federal loans tend to offer loans at lower interest rates than private loans. While federal loans don't require you to have a co-signer, many private loans make this a requirement. Visit studentaid.ed.gov/types/loans/federal-vs-private to learn more about the difference between these loans.

Defaulting on Student Loans

Before you get a loan, determine how much money you need to borrow and only borrow that amount. When you get the loan, be clear about payment terms and what type of loan you have. Once your student loan becomes due:

- Maintain accurate records of your loan, including the loan agreement, interest rates, and account numbers.

- Track your loans to stay updated on how much you owe.

- Make certain that the loan servicer has your current contact and bank account information (if payments are withdrawn automatically).

A default means you failed to make scheduled payments on a loan. Your loan becomes delinquent the first day after you miss a payment. However, the loan is not in default until 270 days have passed without a payment. The consequences of default can include:

- The entire unpaid balance of your loan and any interest is immediately due and payable.

- Your loan account is assigned to a collection agency.

EDUCATION SCAMS

Be aware of common signs of education scams:

- Companies charge money for access to “secret” scholarships or to complete your FAFSA but don’t deliver.

- Lenders use high-pressure sales tactics when selling loans, charge high fees, or don’t give you all the important details.

Take steps to protect yourself:

- Talk to guidance counselors at school to get scholarship information for free.

- Use FAFSA.gov to qualify for federal financial aid.

- Be cautious of success stories from working with these companies.

- Shop around for rates on private loans.

For more information or to file a complaint, contact:

- The U.S. Department of Education (p. 94)
EDUCATION

• The loan will be reported as delinquent to credit bureaus, damaging your credit rating.
• Your federal and state taxes may be withheld through a tax offset. This means that the Internal Revenue Service can take your federal and state tax refund to collect on your defaulted student loan debt.
• Your employer can withhold money from your pay and send the money to the government. This process is called wage garnishment.

Contact your loan servicer immediately if you are having difficulty making your payments. The servicer may be able to help by changing your repayment plan, switching the due date, getting a deferment or forbearance, or consolidating your student loans.

Visit www.studentaid.ed.gov/repay-loans/default for information to avoid defaulting on your student loan.

WORK-AT-HOME COMPANIES

Not all work-at-home opportunities deliver on their promises. Some classic work-at-home schemes are medical billing, envelope stuffing, and assembly or craftwork. Ads for these businesses say, “Be part of one of America’s Fastest-Growing Industries. Earn thousands of dollars a month from your home!”. Legitimate work-at-home program sponsors should tell you, in writing, what is involved in the program they are selling. Here are some questions you might ask a promoter:

• What tasks will I have to perform? Ask the program sponsor to list every step of the job.
• Will I be paid a salary, or will my pay be based on commission?
• Who will pay me?
• When will I get my first paycheck?
• What is the total cost of the work-at-home program, including supplies, equipment, and membership fees? What will I get for my money?

The answers to these questions may help you determine whether a work-at-home program is appropriate for your circumstances, and whether it is legitimate.

Multilevel Marketing

Some multilevel marketing plans are legitimate; however, others are illegal pyramid schemes. In pyramids, commissions are based on the number of distributors recruited, rather than actual products that are sold.

If you are thinking about joining what appears to be a

EMPLOYMENT

Numerous websites post private industry job openings. In addition, all federal government jobs are announced to the public at www.usajobs.gov. Many companies also offer a way to apply online. However, these sites and methods do not replace traditional and proven job-hunting approaches such as networking, personal contacts, business organizations, and interviewing.

PRE-EMPLOYMENT CREDIT CHECKS

Potential employers are not just reading your résumé; they are also reviewing your credit history to find out:

• If you pay your bills on time.
• How much money you owe.
• If someone has sued you.

Some states limit employers ability to access or use your credit report when making hiring decisions. Get your reports at www.annualcreditreport.com before you begin a job search, so you can correct inaccuracies.

EMPLOYMENT SCAMS

Be aware of these common signs of employment scams:

• A scammer offers to help you find a job for a fee, but after you pay, they disappear and you don’t get the services promised.
• Work at home job offers that make big promises, but require you to spend your own money for equipment and supplies.
• Mystery shopper opportunities, where the scammers send you a counterfeit check to pay for your shopping work.

Take steps to protect yourself:

• Check out the reputation of employment agencies or companies offering work with your state’s attorney general (p. 106).
• Meet with the job promoter in person, not just by phone or online, to talk about tasks, salaries, and logistics.
• Beware if a fee is required to work for the company.

For more information or to file a complaint, contact:

• Your state consumer protection offices (p. 106)
• The Federal Trade Commission (p. 102)
FOOD AND NUTRITION

Consumers have a wide variety of food choices available. You want food that is safe, nutritious, and will not break your budget.

HEALTHY FOOD CHOICES

To help you make healthy food choices, the federal government posts dietary guidelines at www.health.gov/dietaryguidelines. Federal regulations also require many foods to identify fat content, fiber, and nutrients on their labels. Visit fnic.nal.usda.gov/food-labeling for more information about food labels.

Check out these resources for advice, tips, and information on food shopping and nutrition:

- U.S. Department of Agriculture (p. 89)
- U.S. Food and Drug Administration (p. 92)
- Nutrition.gov (www.nutrition.gov)
- MedlinePlus.gov (www.medlineplus.gov)
- Center for Nutrition Policy and Promotion (www.cnpp.usda.gov)
- Choose My Plate (www.choosemyplate.gov)

FOOD SAFETY

Food safety in the home revolves around three main functions: food storage, food handling, and cooking. By practicing a few simple rules for cleaning, separating, cooking, and chilling, you can prevent most foodborne illness in the home. The website www.foodsafety.gov is your gateway to government food safety information, including publications you can download or request. You can also visit www.recalls.gov for the latest food safety alerts and recalls.

For more information, here are some additional resources:

SAVING MONEY ON GROCERIES

It can be a challenge to make healthy food choices and stay within your food budget. Follow these tips to help you get the most from your grocery budget:

- Take an inventory of the food you already have in your home before grocery shopping.
- Make a shopping list and stick to it.
- Use apps to compare prices between grocery stores so that you can get the best deal.
- Compare unit prices (cost per ounce or pound) to get the best deal.
- Buy the generic store brand versions of foods.
- Take advantage of store loyalty savings programs, as well as clipping coupons and online discounts.
- Only take advantage of a deal if you know you will eat the discounted item.
- Check the amount of food in the packaging. Some food manufacturers have reduced the amount of food in the can or box, but charge the same price. This is basically the same as a price increase.

• Visit your local farmers market to find fresh produce. Find your local farmers market at search.ams.usda.gov/farmersmarkets.

• Shop for foods that are in season. When the supply is plentiful, the prices tend to be lower.

If you need assistance with food expenses, you may qualify for assistance from the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP). Learn more at www.fns.usda.gov/snap/supplemental-nutrition-assistance-program-snap. The Senior Farmers Market Nutrition Program issues coupons to low-income seniors for use at farmers markets. Details are available at www.fns.usda.gov/sfmnp/overview.

ORGANIC FOODS

Organic foods are grown and processed according to USDA regulations and follow specific rules concerning pest control, raising animals, and the use of additives. Organic foods tend to be more expensive than conventionally grown foods. Also, the USDA does not claim that organic food is safer or healthier than other foods.

Look for the USDA organic seal to verify that food is certified organic. If produce’s price look up code (PLU) starts with a 9, it was grown organically. Visit www.ams.usda.gov for more information about organic foods.

Other common labels that help you choose certain types of food products include:

Free-Range or Cage-Free. This means the flock was provided shelter in a building, room, or area with unlimited access to food, fresh water, and the outdoors.

Natural. As required by the USDA, meat, poultry, and egg products labeled as “natural” must be minimally processed and contain no artificial ingredients.

Grass-Fed. Grass-fed animals receive a majority of their nutrients from grass throughout their life, while organic animals’ pasture diet may be supplemented with grain.

FOOD SCAMS

Be aware of these common signs of food scams:

• Farm raised seafood falsely labeled as the more expensive wild versions.

• Door to door salesmen use high pressure tactics to sell meat, supposedly leftover from a previous delivery.

• Cooking oils and spices that really aren’t the higher quality (and more expensive version) promised.

Take steps to protect yourself:

• Shop at grocers and markets you trust.

For more information or to file a complaint, contact:

• Your state consumer protection office (p. 106)

HEALTH CARE

There are plenty of resources available to help you make health care decisions. Be wary of websites sponsored by companies that are trying to sell you a particular treatment. It is better to contact reputable associations or visit sites run by government agencies and recognized organizations. This information should complement, not replace, what you receive from a doctor. Here are some sites that are generally recognized as reliable information sources:

• HealthCare.gov (www.healthcare.gov)—Learn about and apply for the Health Insurance Marketplace online.

• HealthFinder.gov (www.healthfinder.gov)—Provides information and tools to help you stay healthy.

• Mayo Clinic (www.mayoclinic.org)—Offers an index of symptoms, diseases and procedures.

• Medical Library Association (www.mlanet.org)—Provides links to websites suggested by librarians.

• MedlinePlus (www.medlineplus.gov)—Provides information on illnesses, diseases, and wellness issues.

CHOOSE A DOCTOR

When searching for a primary care doctor, dentist, specialist, or other health care professional:

• Find out whether the health care professional is licensed in your state. A state or local occupational and professional licensing board can give you this information.

• Research whether the health care professional is board-certified in the appropriate specialty. Visit www.ama-assn.org and www.abms.org for more information.

• Ask how often the health care professional has performed the procedure you need or has treated your condition. You may be able to find some of this information online.

• Check whether there have been any complaints or disciplinary actions taken against the provider you are researching. Visit www.docboard.org for more information. There are also pay-for-use sites with similar information. Visit www.healthfinder.gov and www.ahrq.gov/patients-consumers for more advice on identifying and working with providers.
• Find out which doctors participate in your health insurance plan. If you are having surgery, check that all providers (facilities, radiologists, anesthesiologists) are also covered by your plan, to avoid surprise bills.

Consider these questions regarding your health care provider and his or her practice:
• Is the office in an area that you can get to easily, or does it have office hours during times when you can make an appointment?
• Does the doctor have privileges to practice medicine at the hospital you prefer?
• Do you get along well with the doctor? Do you feel that you communicate well with each other? Does the doctor listen to your concerns and explain diagnoses, benefits of new treatments, and prescriptions clearly?
• What is the doctor’s appointment cancellation policy? Will you have to pay for a cancelled appointment?

Filing a Complaint
If you have a complaint about the medical services you received from a physician, you may file a complaint with your state medical board. For a complete directory from the Federation of State Medical Boards, visit www.fsmb.org/state-medical-boards/contacts. You can also call the Federation at 817-868-4000 to get the phone number of your state’s medical board.

CHOOSE A HEALTH CARE FACILITY

When determining the best health care facility for you, consider these factors:
• Does the facility accept payment from your insurance plan?
• Does your doctor have practice privileges to provide treatment to patients at the facility?
• What is the quality of the facility?
• Does the facility specialize in services and procedures that fit with your medical needs?
• Is the facility in an area you can travel to and from easily?

Find health care facilities in your area at www.findahealthcenter.hrsa.gov.

Patient Portals
A patient portal is a website, sponsored by a health care facility or health insurer, that gives you electronic access to your medical information. You may access notes from recent doctor’s appointments, lab test results, prescriptions, and more. Some portals also provide medical advice or have staff that help them to provide medical care or diagnose symptoms remotely. Visit www.HealthIT.gov or contact your health providers for more information.

MEDICAL CREDIT CARDS
Some health care providers offer deferred-interest credit cards that give you more time to pay for medical and dental procedures.

If you pay off the entire bill before the promotional period ends, you will not be responsible for paying any interest on the credit card balance. But beware: if you are unable to pay off the credit card balance by the end of the promotional period or make any late payments, you will have to pay all the accrued interest during the loan (usually at higher than 25% APR), on top of the credit card balance.

The staff at medical offices are not required to (and often are not trained to) clearly explain the terms of these cards to you. Before you apply for a medical payment plan or credit card, do some research:
• Comparison shop. Your doctor’s office may offer one plan, but if you have time, shop around to determine if there are better offers available.
• Read any disclosures and terms of services before applying for a medical credit card. Get them in writing, not just orally from staff members.
• Check for the interest rates and when a promotional period would end.
• Can you use the card for other medical expenses? If so, find out if interest becomes due on future purchases immediately or if it is also deferred.
• Determine how much you would have to pay each period in order to finish paying the balance before interest comes due.

Elder Care
The need for services for seniors has grown. The Eldercare Locator (www.eldercare.gov), a public service of the Administration for Community Living, U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, is a nationwide service that connects older Americans and their caregivers with information on senior services. Visit acl.gov/Get_Help/Help_Older_Adults/Index.aspx for a list of resources to connect older persons, caregivers, and professionals with important federal, national, and local programs.

If you are looking for a nursing home or other assisted-living facility, these organizations can help:
• Nursing Home Compare, operated by the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, will help you compare facilities in many states. Go to www.medicare.gov/nhcompare/home.asp or call 1-800-633-4227.
• Eldercare Locator (www.eldercare.gov) provides information and referral services for those seeking local and state support resources for the elderly (p. 96).
• LeadingAge (www.leadingage.org) helps you locate nonprofit organizations that meet the needs of the elderly.
HEALTH CARE

• Argentum (www.alfa.org) represents both for-profit and nonprofit assisted-living facilities; call 703-894-1805.
• The Commission on Accreditation of Rehabilitation Facilities (www.carf.org) gives its seal of approval to qualifying facilities; call 1-888-281-6531 (p. 136).
• The Joint Commission accredits hospitals, nursing homes, and other health care organizations. Check out a local facility at their website www.qualitycheck.org.

MEDICAL BILLING
If you have received medical care, you may receive a bill for the services. For planned medical care, ask questions beforehand:
• Will there be separate charges for the surgeons, trauma teams, anesthesia, dietetics, or other specialists? Are they all contracted with your health insurance plan?
• How much are facility, activation, or emergency room fees?
• Can you get an estimate of how much your insurer will pay?
• Can you bring your own crutches, slings, or canes, if needed? These items can add significant costs to a hospital stay.
• Are there extra fees for blood work, even if part of a routine physical exam?
• Is there an option to “opt-out” of any services?
• Can you set up a payment plan, in advance of a procedure?

After you receive medical attention, your health insurance company will send you a statement or explanation of benefits, that lists the full cost of the care or procedure, the amount that your insurance paid, and the amount that you are responsible for paying.
• Carefully review both the explanation of benefits from your insurance company and invoices from medical providers.
• Request line item billing from hospitals if you are questioning hospital charges.
• Make sure that the medical billing codes match the treatment you received. There may be different ones used by your insurer and the health care provider.

• Find out how to enroll in balance billing for outstanding invoices.
• Keep records (names, dates, times) of all contact with your insurance company and medical billing offices.

PRESCRIPTION DRUGS
Prescription drugs can be a major cost for consumers. Before filling a prescription, make certain that your pharmacy has your current health and prescription insurance information on record so you get the best price possible.

If you have difficulty paying for your medications, contact the manufacturer. Some pharmaceutical companies have patient assistance programs to help you afford your medication.

Online Pharmacies
You may decide to order your prescriptions through an online pharmacy. While there are legitimate online pharmacies, there are also some fraudulent ones that advertise prescription drugs for low prices. Beware: they may sell you medications that are counterfeit and do not treat your condition.

Fraudulent online pharmacies can also hurt your wallet, with higher prices and unsecure networks for processing your credit card payments. They may also charge you for medicines you never received. Be suspicious if an online pharmacy:
• Allows you to buy medication without a prescription from your doctor.
• Offers medication at deep discounts that seem too good to be true.
• Is not licensed and has no physical address in the U.S.
• Sends unsolicited emails (spam) offering cheap drugs.
• Does not have a licensed pharmacist available to answer your questions.

Check the Food and Drug Administration’s (FDA) database of safe online pharmacies and get more tips to protect yourself at www.fda.gov/BeSafeRx or call 1-888-463-6332. If you suspect that a pharmacy is fake, report it to the FDA at www.fda.gov/Safety/ReportaProblem/ucm059315.htm.

Medicare Prescription Drug Coverage
Medicare offers prescription drug coverage to senior citizens and others who need financial assistance. Prescription coverage is available under Part D of the program, or Part C if you are enrolled in the Medicare Advantage Plan. Everyone with Medicare can join a drug plan to get this coverage. Not all Medicare drug plans are the same. If you are not sure whether a drug plan is approved by Medicare, call 1-800-633-4227. Look for the “Medicare Approved” seal on drug discount cards to make sure you are getting the best deal.

Medicare prescription drug coverage pays expenses up to $3,310; once your prescription costs exceed that amount, you will no longer have coverage and will be responsible... for the full cost of your drugs. However, once your out-of-pocket spending reaches $4,850, your prescription coverage will kick back in. Any amount of prescription drug spending between $3,310 and $4,850 is called the coverage gap or Medicare “donut hole.” In 2016, if you reach the coverage gap, you will automatically get a 55% discount on covered brand-name drugs and a 42% discount on generic drugs. If you have limited income and resources, you may get extra help to cover prescription drugs for little or no cost. Contact the Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services (p. 96) for more information.

Visit www.medicare.gov for more information about Medicare benefits.

ADVANCE MEDICAL DIRECTIVES

Advance directives are written documents that tell your doctors what kind of treatment you want if you become unable to make medical decisions (for example, if you are in a coma). Forms and laws vary by state, so it is a good idea to understand the laws in your state when you write advance directives. Also, complete these documents before you become very ill, if possible. You should file a copy with your primary care physician. Federal law requires hospitals, nursing homes, and other institutions that receive Medicare or Medicaid funds to provide written information regarding advance medical directives to all patients upon admission.

A living will is one type of advance directive that goes into effect when a person is terminally ill. A living will does not give you the opportunity to select someone to make medical decisions for you, but it does allow you to specify the kind of treatment you want in specific situations. For example, you might choose to specify that you do not want to be treated with antibiotics if death is imminent. You can, if you choose, include an advance directive that you do not wish to be resuscitated if your heart stops or if you stop breathing. In this case, a Do Not Resuscitate (DNR) order would be entered on your medical chart.

Naming a Durable Power of Attorney for Health Care

A durable power of attorney for health care (sometimes called a durable medical power of attorney) specifies the person you have chosen to make medical decisions for you. It is activated when you are unconscious, or unable to make medical decisions. You need to choose someone who meets the legal requirements in your state for acting as your agent. State laws vary, but most states disqualify anyone under the age of 18, your health care provider, or employees of your health care provider.

The person you choose as your agent must:

• Be willing to speak and advocate on your behalf.
• Be willing to deal with conflict among friends and family members, if it arises.
• Know you well and understand your wishes.
• Be willing to talk with you about these issues.
• Be someone you trust with your life.

An emergency contact is not the same as a durable power of attorney. You can choose the same person for both roles, but your emergency contact isn’t automatically allowed to make medical decisions for you.

See the Wills and Funerals section (p. 51) to learn more about choosing people to act on your behalf, such as trustees and executors.

HEALTH CARE SCAMS

Be aware of these common signs of health care scams:

• Bills for services and procedures that you didn’t receive.
• Claims of “miracle” drugs, quick fixes, medical breakthroughs, and cures for serious diseases.
• Money back or risk free guarantees for medical products.
• Use of personal testimonies from doctors and patients, that aren’t factual.

Take steps to protect yourself:

• Talk to your doctor before you take anything not prescribed by them.
• Don’t share your Medicare or health insurance number in exchange for a “free” treatment.

For more information or to file a complaint, contact:

• The Federal Trade Commission (p. 102)
• Your state consumer protection office (p. 106)
• Food and Drug Administration (p. 96)

Housing is one of the most significant expenses that you have as a consumer. There are many decisions to make, such as choosing the best housing option for you, how to finance it, and choosing movers and contractors for home repairs. Use the resources from the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development at www.hud.gov, the Consumer Financial Protection Bureau at www.consumerfinance.gov/owning-a-home, as well as your local housing department so you know your rights and responsibilities.

BUY A HOME
Buying a home is one of the most complex financial decisions you will ever make. In addition to the financial and legal issues involved, real estate agents and lenders may not be acting in your best interest.

- Consider hiring a buyer’s agent who works for you.
- Get prices of other homes in the neighborhood. Knowing these prices can help you avoid overpaying.
- Have the property inspected. Use a licensed home inspector to look over the property before you buy it.
- Check to see if a particular home requires you to pay any ongoing homeowners association (HOA) or condo fees.

Mortgages
When shopping for a home mortgage, make sure you obtain all of the relevant information:

- Research current interest rates. Check the real estate section of your local newspaper, use the Internet, or call several lenders for information.
- Check the rates for 15-year, 20-year, and 30-year mortgages. You may be able to save thousands of dollars in interest charges by getting the shortest-term mortgage you can afford.

Fixed-rate and adjustable-rate mortgages are the two main types of mortgages, but there is a wide variety of other mortgage products available. Below are pros and cons of some of the mortgage products you want to consider:

<thead>
<tr>
<th>TYPE OF MORTGAGE</th>
<th>PROS</th>
<th>CONS</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Adjustable-rate (ARM) or variable-rate mortgage</td>
<td>Usually offers a lower initial rate of interest than fixed-rate loans.</td>
<td>After an initial period, rates fluctuate over the life of the loan. When interest rates rise, generally so do your loan payments.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Balloon mortgage</td>
<td>Usually a fixed-rate loan with relatively low payments for a fixed period.</td>
<td>After an initial period, the entire balance of the loan is due immediately. This type of loan may be risky for some borrowers.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Federal Housing Administration (FHA) loan</td>
<td>Allows buyers who may not qualify for a home loan to obtain one with a low down payment.</td>
<td>The size of your loan may be limited.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Fixed-rate mortgage</td>
<td>No surprises. Interest rate stays the same over the entire term, usually 15, 20, or 30 years.</td>
<td>If interest rates fall, you could be stuck paying a higher rate.</td>
<tr>
<td>Interest-only</td>
<td>Borrower pays only the interest on the loan in monthly payments for a fixed term.</td>
<td>After an initial period, the balance of the loan is due. This could mean higher payments, paying a lump sum, or refinancing.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Reverse mortgage</td>
<td>Allows seniors to convert equity in their homes to cash. You don’t have to pay back the loan and interest as long as you live in the house.</td>
<td>The entire loan amount is due immediately once the borrower no longer resides in the home. This can cause problems for the borrower’s estate.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Veterans Administration (VA) loan</td>
<td>Guaranteed loans for eligible veterans, active duty personnel, and surviving spouses. Offers competitive rates, low or no down payments.</td>

loan estimate form. This form should highlight the main features of that loan, such as the amount, if the rate is fixed or adjustable, and term. If you shop for rates from multiple lenders, these forms will help you compare loan options.

Once you have chosen a lender and a home to buy, and gone to contract, you will have to go into a closing meeting. Three business days before the closing, your lender is required to give you a Closing Disclosure. Compare this document to the loan estimate you received from the lender in the beginning of the home buying journey. Be sure there are no discrepancies to avoid costly surprises at closing.

Visit www.consumerfinance.gov/owning-a-home to find samples of both documents, a home loan toolkit and other guides for the home buying process.

HOME FORECLOSURE

Foreclosure is the legal means that your lender can take to repossess your property. If you owe more than your property is worth, a deficiency judgment is pursued. This action would require you to pay the difference between the amount you owe and your home’s value. Both foreclosures and deficiency judgments appear on your credit report.

Take these steps to avoid foreclosure:

- Do not ignore letters from your lender. If you are having problems making payments, call or write to your lender’s Loss Mitigation Department immediately. Be prepared to provide financial information, such as your monthly income and expenses. Without this information, the lender may not be able to help you.
- Stay in your home. You may not qualify for assistance if you abandon your property.
- Contact a HUD-approved housing counselor. Call 1-800-569-4287 or TDD 1-800-877-8339 for the housing counseling agency nearest you.
- Contact Making Home Affordable for help. Visit www.makinghomeaffordable.gov or call 1-888-995-4673, or 1-877-304-9709 for hearing-impaired homeowners, to talk to a HUD-approved credit counselor who will guide you through your options for free.

Beware of offers and sales pitches that target homeowners who are struggling to make mortgage payments. Additional advice, resources, and tips for homeowners can be found under Home Equity Loans (p. 13) and Homeowners and Renters Insurance (p. 31).

MOVING COMPANIES

Not all moving companies are the same. Although many are legitimate, some attempt to take advantage of their clients. Some may raise the price of the move, after your possessions are on their truck, and threaten to hold your possessions hostage if you don’t pay. Follow these guidelines to help you choose the right mover:

- Make sure the mover has an operating license. For moves from one state to another (inter-state), visit www.protectyourmove.gov to verify a mover’s license. For moves within a state (intra-state), check your state, county, or local consumer protection agency (p. 106).
- Confirm that the mover has insurance. If furniture is damaged during the move, the mover’s insurance should cover it. Ask how to file a complaint if there are limits to the coverage. Visit www.protectyourmove.gov/consumer/awareness/valuation/valuation-insurance.htm for more information about the levels of mover’s insurance coverage.
- Check the mover’s complaint record. Contact your state or local consumer protection agency (p. 106) or the Better Business Bureau (p. 67) to see if there is a history of complaints.
- Insist on an in-person estimate, so the mover can see what needs to be moved. Then get the estimate in writing. Be wary of very low estimates. A company may quote a low price, but ask for more money before they’ll remove your belongings from their truck.
- Before you move, ask about extra fees for boxes, blankets and packing materials, before you move.

If you have a dispute with a moving company, you can file a complaint with the Federal Motor Carrier Safety Administration by calling 1-888-368-7238 or by visiting www.fmcsa.dot.gov.

MORTGAGE RULES TO PROTECT YOU

The Consumer Financial Protection Bureau (CFPB) created rules to ensure that you can afford your mortgage. Some protections include:

Ability to Repay

- Lenders must verify your ability to pay back a mortgage. They may review your credit history, proof of your income, and your other debt and living expenses.
- Your ability to repay must be based on the highest interest rate you would be charged, not teaser rates.

Increased Information

- You must receive appraisal reports at least three days before closing on the house.
- Your servicer must send you statements.
- You must receive notice of interest rate increases two months in advance.

High Cost Loans (high fees, points, APR)

- A lender must inform you that you have a high cost loan and state all the fees and costs upfront.
- You must receive counseling from a housing counselor.
- Your lender can’t charge prepayment penalties or balloon payments.

Contact the Consumer Financial Protection Bureau (p. 93) for more information on mortgage rules.
MORTGAGE REFINANCING

Refinancing your mortgage can help you save money or make your monthly payments more affordable. Some factors that make it a good idea, include:

• A decrease in interest rates.
• A change in the length of your mortgage.
• A change from a fixed-rate to adjustable-rate mortgage.

Before you decide whether or not to refinance:

• Research interest rates offered by several lenders to compare your options.
• Research options available through the Federal Housing Administration (FHA), Home Affordable Refinance Program (HARP), or your local housing agency.
• Read your current mortgage to see if there are any fees or penalties for early cancellation.
• Gather information about refinancing expenses, such as appraiser, broker and attorney fees, or changes in taxes.

For an overview, review the Federal Reserve's publication www.federalreserve.gov/pubs/refinancings/default.htm on refinancing or consult a HUD-certified housing counselor.

HOME IMPROVEMENTS AND REPAIRS

Home improvements and repairs can cost thousands of dollars and are the subject of frequent complaints.

When selecting a contractor:

• Get recommendations and references. Talk to friends, family, and others who have used the contractor for similar work.
• Get at least three written estimates. Insist that contractors come to your home to evaluate what needs to be done. Be sure the estimates are based on the same work so you can make meaningful comparisons.
• Check contractor complaint records with your state or local consumer protection agency (p. 106) or the Better Business Bureau (p. 67).
• Make sure the contractor meets licensing and registration requirements. Your state or local consumer protection agency (p. 106) can help you determine the necessary requirements.
• Get the names of suppliers and ask them whether the contractor makes timely payments.
• Contact your local building inspection department to check for permit and inspection requirements. Be wary if the contractor asks you to get the permit; it could mean the firm is not licensed.
• Be sure your contractor is insured. The contractor should have personal liability, property damage, and workers’ compensation insurance for workers and subcontractors.
• Insist on a written contract that states exactly what work will be done, the quality of materials that will be used, warranties, timetables, the names of any subcontractors, the total price of the job, and the schedule of payments.
• Try to limit your down payment. Some states have laws limiting the amount of down payment required.
• Understand your payment options. Compare the cost of getting your own loan versus contractor financing.
• Don’t make a final payment or sign a final release until you are satisfied with the work and know that subcontractors and suppliers have been paid. Beware: some state laws allow unpaid subcontractors and suppliers to put a lien on your home for bills the contractor failed to pay.
• Pay by credit card when you can. You may have the right to withhold payment to the credit card company until problems are corrected (p. 15).

Be especially cautious if the contractor:

• Comes door-to-door or seeks you out.
• Happens to have material left over from a recent job.
• Offers you discounts for finding other customers.
• Quotes a price that is out of line with other estimates.
• Pressures you for an immediate decision.
• Can only be reached by leaving messages with an answering service.
• Has no physical address for the business.
• Has out-of-state license plates.
• Asks you to pay for the entire job up front.

With most home improvements, federal law gives you three business days to cancel without penalty. See the 3-Day Cooling-Off Rule (p. 4). You would be liable for any benefit already received. State laws may also provide some protection. And remember, if you finance home improvements with a home equity loan (p. 13) and do not make your payments, you could lose your home.

RENTING AND LEASING

You may choose to renting a home, instead of buying one. Renting offers flexibility, and eliminates some major expenses, like property taxes, downpayment, and property maintenance. Take these steps and be prepared when you meet with a prospective landlord:

• Get a current copy of your credit report. Make corections before starting your apartment search.
• Check with the Better Business Bureau (p. 67) or your local consumer protection office (p. 106) to determine if your prospective landlord has any existing complaints from previous tenants.
• Bring a completed rental application with you; written references from previous landlords, employers, friends, and colleagues.
• Get all promises for discounts or amenities in writing.
• Know your rights to live in a habitable rental unit—and don’t give them up.
• Keep communication open with your landlord.
• Purchase renters insurance to cover your valuables. See more information under Homeowners and Renters Insurance (p. 31).
• Make sure the security deposit refund procedures are spelled out in your lease or rental agreement.
• Find out how disputes are handled with your landlord.

A lease is a legally binding agreement that outlines the obligations of a property owner and the tenants. Read the lease carefully and discuss anything you do not understand. By signing a lease, you agree to abide by the rules and responsibilities that are included. Some things to look for in a lease:
• Clauses that allow the landlord to change the terms of the lease after it is signed.
• Requirements and responsibilities of the tenants and landlord to do routine repairs such as lawn maintenance, cleaning, or notification about needed repairs. All responsibilities should be stated clearly.

HOUSING SCAMS
Be aware of these common signs of housing scams:
• Foreclosure rescue companies offer to negotiate directly with your lender, and tell you to send your payments to them instead of your loan servicer.
• A lender encourages you to lie about your income, expenses, or cash available for down payments in order to get a loan.
• You are asked to sign purchase or sale documents without reviewing them, or with blank spaces.

Take steps to protect yourself:
• Research lenders and realtors.
• Attend homebuyer classes through a HUD-certified housing counselling agency.

For more information or to file a complaint, contact:
• The Consumer Financial Protection Bureau (p. 93)
• The Department of Housing and Urban Development (p. 98)

INSURANCE
Insurance protects you from financial loss in the event of a disaster or other hardship. By purchasing insurance policies, you can receive reimbursement for losses due to car accidents, property theft, natural disasters, medical expenses, and loss of income due to disability or death.

General sources of insurance information include the American Council of Life Insurers (p. 135), the Insurance • Restrictions that would prevent you from living normally or comfortably in the home.
• Terms of the lease and any important dates such as when the rent is due or garbage pickup days.
• Extra fees for parking spaces or storage, garbage collection, water, and pets.
• Information regarding utility providers, how to arrange for service, and whether the landlord or tenant is responsible for paying the bills (see Utilities, page 50).

Always get a copy of the signed lease to keep in your records. Any clause or terms in the agreement affects ALL parties who sign.

The Fair Housing Act protects tenants who lease or rent property. If you think your rights have been violated, you may write a letter to, or call the HUD office nearest you (p. 98). You have one year after the alleged violation to file a complaint with HUD. Each state has its own set of tenant rights, laws, and protections. For a state-by-state directory, visit www.hud.gov/local.

If you need help finding affordable housing, there are agencies that can help. You may qualify for public housing, which is state-owned, affordable rental homes for low-income families, the elderly, and people with disabilities. You may also apply for the Housing Choice Voucher Program. In this program, you find a rental property yourself and use the voucher to pay for all or part of the rent. HUD (p. 98) offers several housing assistance programs for tenants and landlords as well as information on rights of residents and displaced tenants. Visit www.usa.gov/finding-home for more information about affordable housing programs.
Information Institute (p. 136), the National Association of Insurance Commissioners (p. 137), and your state insurance department (p. 123). You can also visit www.insure.com.

When buying any type of insurance (home, life, auto, rental, or other), you should:

- Find out whether your state insurance department (p. 123) offers any information concerning insurance companies and rates.
- Check several sources for the best deal. Search online or with an independent insurance agent. These agents work with several insurers and may be able to get you a better deal.
- Make sure the insurance company is licensed and covered by the state’s guaranty fund. The fund pays claims in case the company defaults. Your state insurance department (p. 123) can provide this information.
- Ask your insurance agent about discounts. You may be able to get a lower premium if you have safety features in your home, such as dead-bolt locks, smoke detectors, an alarm system, storm shutters, or fire-retardant roofing material. Similarly, you may save on car insurance based on your car’s safety features, the number of miles you drive, your age (turning 25 or 50), your good grades (if you are a student) and/or your driving record (no moving vehicle violations or accidents in three years). You might also be able to get discounts if you are a member of civic or alumni associations, or insure your vehicle and home with the same company.
- Have you had major changes in your life (had a child, bought a home)? Life events affect your insurance needs.
- Consider a higher deductible. Increasing your deductible by just a few hundred dollars can make a big difference in your premiums.
- Check the financial stability and soundness of the insurance company.
- Research the complaint record of the company. Contact your state insurance department (p. 123), or visit the website of the National Association of Insurance Commissioners (www.naic.org), which has a database of complaints filed with state regulators.
- Find out what others think about the company’s customer service. Consumers can rate homeowner insurance companies at www.jdpower.com/industry/insurance.
- Make sure you receive a written policy. This tells you that the agent forwarded your premium to the insurance company. If you do not receive a policy within 60 days, contact your agent and the insurance company.
- Shop around, even if you are satisfied with your current insurer. Your insurer may increase your rates annually, just because they can. Make sure your rate is still competitive for the level of coverage you need.

If you suspect fraud, call the National Insurance Crime Bureau’s hotline at 1-800-835-6422. Check out www.insurancefraud.org for more information.

AUTO INSURANCE

Every state requires that you carry minimum levels of auto insurance coverage, or the equivalent in financial responsibility waivers, to ensure that you can cover the cost of damages to people or property in the event of a car accident. Auto insurance requirements vary from state to state. Check with your state insurance regulator (p. 123) to learn more about individual requirements as well as insurers you may be considering for your policy.

There are multiple factors that can affect your car insurance rates, including:

- your gender
- your age
- your marital status
- your credit history
- the make and model of your car
- the city and neighborhood where you live

To find the best coverage at the best price, get quotes from several insurance companies; it may save you hundreds of dollars a year. You could also raise your deductible on collision and comprehensive coverage. If you have an older car, you might want to drop this coverage altogether.

Find valuable information about car ownership in the cars section (p. 8), as well as information about insurance for rental cars (p. 12).

DISABILITY INSURANCE

Disability insurance helps you replace lost income, if you are unable to work due to sickness or injury. Many employers offer some type of disability insurance coverage for employees, or you can get an individual disability insurance policy. There are two types of disability policies: short-term disability (STD) and long-term disability (LTD). Short-term disability policies have a maximum benefit of two years, while long-term disability policies have benefits that can last the rest of your life.

When purchasing disability insurance, ask:

- How is disability defined? Some policies consider you disabled if you are unable to perform the duties of any job. Some plans pay benefits if you are unable to do the usual duties of your own occupation.
- When do benefits begin? Most plans have a waiting period before payments begin.
- How long do benefits last? After a specified waiting period, LTD payments are usually available until you reach age 65. Shorter or longer terms are also available.
- What dollar amount is promised? Can benefits be reduced by Social Security disability and workers’ compensation payments? Are the benefits adjusted for inflation? Will the policy provider continue making contributions to your pension plan so you have retirement benefits when the disability coverage ends?

Get more information from the Insurance Information Institute at www.iii.org.
HEALTH INSURANCE

Group Policies
Many consumers have health care coverage from their employers. Others have medical care paid through a government program such as Medicare (p. 96), Medicaid (p. 96), or the Veterans Health Administration (p. 101). You may also purchase health insurance through the Health Insurance Marketplace, at www.healthcare.gov.

If you have lost your group coverage from an employer as the result of unemployment, death, divorce, or loss of “dependent child” status, you may be able to continue your coverage temporarily under the Consolidated Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act (COBRA). You, not the employer, pay for this coverage. When one of these events occur, you must be given at least 60 days to decide whether you wish to purchase the coverage.

Medicare and Medicaid
There are also health insurance programs for people who are seniors, disabled, or have low incomes.

- Medicare provides health insurance for people who are 65 years or older, some younger people with disabilities, and those with kidney failure.
- Medicaid provides health insurance for people with low incomes, children, and pregnant women. Eligibility is determined by your state.

Contact the Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services (p. 96) for more information on benefits.

Most states also offer free or low-cost coverage for children who do not have health insurance. Visit www.insurekidsnow.gov or call 1-877-543-7669 for more information.

Health Care Plans
When purchasing health insurance, your choices typically will fall into one of three categories:

- Traditional fee-for-service health insurance plans are usually the most expensive choice, but they offer you the most flexibility in choosing health care providers.
- Health maintenance organizations (HMOs) offer lower co-payments and cover the costs of more preventive care, but your choice of health care providers is limited. The National Committee for Quality Assurance evaluates and accredits HMOs. You can find out whether one is accredited in your state by calling 1-888-275-7585. You can also get report cards on HMOs by visiting www.ncqa.org.

- Preferred provider organizations (PPOs) offer lower co-payments like HMOs, but give you more flexibility in selecting a health care provider. A PPO gives you a list of providers you can choose from.

If you go outside the HMO or PPO network of providers, you may have to pay a portion or all of the cost. When choosing among different health care plans, you will need to read the fine print and ask lots of questions, such as:

- Do I have the right to go to any doctor, hospital, clinic, or pharmacy I choose?
- Are specialists such as eye doctors and dentists covered?
- Does the plan cover special conditions or treatments such as pregnancy, psychiatric care, and physical therapy?
- Does the plan cover home care or nursing home care?
- Will the plan cover all medications my physician may prescribe?
- What are the deductibles? Are there any co-payments? Deductibles are the amount you must pay before your insurance company will pay a claim. These differ from co-payments, which are the amount of money you pay when you receive medical services or a prescription.
- What is the most I will have to pay out of my own pocket to cover expenses?
- If there is a dispute about a bill or service, how is it handled? In some plans, you may be required to have a third party decide how to settle the problem.

HOMEOWNERS AND RENTERS INSURANCE

Homeowners or renters insurance protects your home and personal property against damage or loss, and insures you in case someone gets hurt while on your property.

Homeowners or renters insurance may pay claims for:

- Damage to your home, garage, and other outbuildings.
- Loss of furniture and other personal property due to damage or theft.
- Additional living expenses if you rent temporary quarters while your house is being repaired.

Homeowners or renters insurance may also:

BEWARE: WHEN COVERAGES COLLIDE

When a disaster strikes, your home may be damaged by several factors at the same time or one right after the other. You may think that your insurance policy will protect you, but that isn’t always the case.

Many home insurance policies include an anti-concurrent causation clause. These clauses give your insurer the right to reject your claim if your home is damaged by several factors, such as wind and rain. If these two or more factors together cause damage to your home, your insurer may deny your entire claim because they can’t determine which factor came first and actually caused the damage. You can face a serious shock if you thought your policy protected you from such disaster.

Before disaster strikes, read your home insurance policy closely for anti-concurrent causation clauses. Ask your agent if you may opt out of that clause or pay an increased premium to have full coverage.
SHARING SERVICES, SHARED RISKS

The sharing economy is popular. You may rent out your home or drive others around in your personal car to make extra money. Your insurance policy may limit your protection for accidents or damages that happen during these transactions.

Before you rent your home or drive your car as a service, ask your insurance company if you need to add to your policy, since you will be using your personal property for commercial purposes. Also, the shared service company may offer insurance coverage for damages or injuries.

• Include liability for bodily injury and property damage that you cause to others through negligence.
• Include liability for accidents happening in and around your home, as well as away from home, for which you are responsible.
• Pay for injuries occurring in and around your home to anyone other than you or your family.
• Provide limited coverage for money, gold, jewelry, and stamp and coin collections.
• Cover personal property in storage or away in dorm rooms.

Keep these tips in mind when shopping for homeowners insurance:

• Insure your house, not the land under it. If you don’t subtract the value of the land when deciding how much homeowners insurance to buy, you will pay more than you should for your policy.
• Make certain you purchase enough coverage to replace what is insured. “Replacement Cost Coverage” gives you the money to rebuild your home and replace its contents. An “Actual Cash Value” policy is cheaper but pays the difference between your property’s worth at the time of loss minus depreciation for age and wear.
• Ask about any special coverage you might need. You may have to pay extra for computers, cameras, jewelry, art, antiques, musical instruments, or stamp collections.
• Remember that flood and earthquake damage are not covered by a standard homeowners policy. The cost of a separate earthquake policy will depend on the likelihood of earthquakes in your area. Homeowners who live in areas prone to flooding should take advantage of the National Flood Insurance Program (p. 98).
• If you are a renter, do not assume your landlord carries insurance on your personal belongings. Purchase a separate policy for renters.

LIFE INSURANCE

A life insurance policy is a contract between you and an insurance company. The contract states that you will pay premiums over time and, in exchange, the company will pay a lump sum amount upon your death to a designated beneficiary. The proceeds from your life insurance policy can help pay bills and help support your surviving family members’ living expenses.

There are two main types of life insurance policies:

• Whole (or universal) life insurance policies are considered permanent. As long as you pay the premium, the policy is in effect. Whole life insurance policies also have an investment or savings component. This means that you accumulate cash value over the life of the policy, so you can borrow money from these policies if you need to.
• Term life insurance policies are in effect for a certain period of time, or term. If you have this type of policy and pass away during the policy’s term then the insurance company will pay a benefit. If you live past the time that the policy is in effect, the insurance company won’t pay a benefit or give you a refund.

Term life insurance policies are usually less expensive than whole life insurance policies. This is because term life insurance policies only cover a set amount of time, while whole life insurance policies are intended to be permanent and because part of your premium is put away for savings.

If you have misplaced a life insurance policy, your state’s insurance commission may be able to help you locate it. Or you can search for it at www.policylocator.org. If the insurance company knows that an insured person has died, but cannot locate the beneficiaries, the company must turn the benefits over to the state’s unclaimed property office.

Check with that office at www.unclaimed.org if you believe that you are due a benefit.

Avoid losing your life insurance policy benefits by alerting the policy beneficiaries and filing a copy with your will.

LONG-TERM CARE INSURANCE

Medical advances have resulted in greater need for nursing home care and assisted-living. Most health insurance plans and Medicare severely limit or exclude long-term care. You should consider these costs as you plan for your retirement.

Here are some questions to ask when considering a separate long-term care insurance policy:

• What qualifies you for benefits? Some insurers say you must be unable to perform a specific number of the following activities of daily living: eating, walking, getting from bed to a chair, dressing, bathing, using the restroom, and remaining continent.
• What type of care is covered? Does the policy cover nursing home care? What about coverage for assisted-living facilities that provide less client care than a nursing home? If you want to stay in your home, will it pay for care provided by visiting nurses and therapists? What about help with food preparation and housecleaning?
• What will the benefit amount be? Most plans are written to provide a specific dollar benefit per day. The benefit for home care is usually about half the nursing home benefit, but some policies pay the same for both forms of care. Other plans pay only for your actual expenses.
• What is the benefit period? It is possible to get a policy with lifetime benefits, but this can be very expensive. Other options for coverage are from one to six years. The average nursing home stay is about 2.5 years.

• Is the benefit adjusted for inflation? If you buy a policy before age 60, you face the risk that a fixed daily benefit will not be enough by the time you need it.

• Is there a waiting period before benefits begin? A 20 to 100-day period is not unusual.

• Visit www.longtermcare.gov for more information.

OTHER INSURANCE

• Catastrophic Health Care Insurance. A health plan that only covers certain types of expensive care, like hospitalizations.

• College Tuition Insurance. Get a refund of college tuition if you must withdraw because of a serious injury or illness.

• Dental and Vision Insurance. Some companies that offer health insurance plans may also allow employees to purchase separate dental and vision plans, which are not part of most standard health plans.

• Identity Theft Insurance. This type of insurance provides reimbursement to crime victims for the cost of restoring their identity and repairing credit reports. This insurance may be part of your homeowner insurance policy or as a stand-alone policy.

• International Health Care Insurance. A policy that provides health coverage no matter where you are in the world. The policy term is flexible, so you can purchase it only for the time you will be out of the country.

• Liability Insurance. Insurance for what the policyholder is legally obligated to pay because of bodily injury or property damage caused to another person.

• Shared Services Insurance. Find out what insurance you need if you rent your home out or use your car to drive others for a fee.

• Travel Insurance. There are four kinds of travel insurance: Travel Cancellation Insurance, Baggage or Personal Effects Coverage, Emergency Medical Coverage, and Accidental Death. Visit www.insuremytrip.com to learn more. See page 14 for travel insurance perks provided by your credit card issuer.

• Umbrella Insurance. A policy that supplements the insurance you already have for home, auto, and other personal property. Umbrella insurance can help cover costs that exceed the limits of other policies.

Contact your current insurance provider or state insurance commission for more information on these insurance policies.

INSURANCE SCAMS

Be aware of these common signs of insurance scams:

• You may pay your insurance premium but your agent keeps the money instead of forwarding it to the company.

• Scammers pose as insurance agents or are unlicensed to sell insurance.

• A series of brokers and re-insurers receive a portion of the money you paid for your premium, until there is no money left to actually send to the insurance company.

• You get notification for claims against your policy that you didn’t file or services you didn’t receive.

Take steps to protect yourself:

• Make sure to get a confirmation from the insurance company that your payment was received for the entire amount

• Confirm with your insurance regulator that your insurance agent is licensed to sell insurance

• Read claims and explanation of benefits statements closely, and check for errors.

For more information or to file a complaint, contact:

• Your state insurance regulator (p. 123)

If you have a financial goal in mind, such as saving for retirement, paying for college, or buying a new house, then you may decide to invest your money to earn enough to fund your goals. Before you invest, make sure you have answers to all of these questions:

• How quickly can you get your money back? Stocks, bonds, and shares in mutual funds usually can be sold at any time, but there is no guarantee you will get back all the money you invested. Other investments, such as limited partnerships, certificates of deposit (CDs), or IRAs, often restrict your ability to cash out your holdings.

• What can you expect to earn on your money? While bonds generally promise a fixed return, earnings on most other securities go up and down with market changes. Keep in mind that just because an investment has done well in the past, there is no guarantee it will do well in the future.
• What type of earnings can you expect? Will you get income in the form of interest, dividends, or rent? Some investments, such as stocks and real estate, have the potential for earnings and growth in value. What is the potential for earnings over time?

• How much risk is involved? With any investment, there is always the risk that you will not get your money back or the earnings promised. There is usually a trade-off between risk and reward—the higher the potential return, the greater the risk. While the federal government backs U.S. Treasury securities, it does not protect against loss on any other investments.

• Are your investments diversified? Some investments perform better than others in certain situations. For example, when interest rates go up, bond prices tend to go down. One industry may struggle while another prospers. Putting your money in a variety of investment options can reduce your risk.

• Are there any tax advantages to a particular investment? U.S. Savings Bonds are exempt from state and local taxes. Municipal bonds are exempt from federal income tax and, sometimes, state income tax as well. Tax-deferred investments for special goals, such as paying for college and retirement, are available that let you postpone or even avoid paying income taxes.

Check out the Securities and Exchange Commission’s (SEC’s) website, www.investor.gov for more information about investing. Be sure to note specific tips at www.investor.gov/Saving-and-Investing. The SEC requires public companies to disclose financial and other information to help you make sound decisions. View the text of these files at www.sec.gov/edgar.shtml. AFFINITY FRAUD

Affinity frauds are investment scams that target specific groups, such as elderly, religious, or ethnic communities. The investment promoters often are (or pretend to be) members of the group.

Affinity fraud usually involves either a fake investment or an investment where the scammer lies about the investment’s risk of loss, earnings or historical performance. Many affinity frauds are Ponzi or pyramid schemes.

Take these steps to avoid being a victim of affinity fraud:

- Research the investment opportunity separately from the information the promoter provides.
- Verify that the promoter is licensed with the SEC (p. 103) and your state securities administrator (p. 127).
- Beware of promises of spectacular profits or “guaranteed” returns, with little risk.

Contact the SEC (p. 103) or your state securities administrator (p. 127) if you have questions about investments or to file a complaint about investment fraud.

FINANCIAL BROKERS AND ADVISORS

A financial professional can help you reach your financial goals.

When selecting a broker or investment advisor, research the person’s education, professional history, as well as the firm the person works for. Ask:

- Has the person worked with others who have circumstances similar to yours?
- Do you communicate well with each other? Does the advisor listen to your needs? Will he or she keep you updated on your investments?
- Is the person licensed in your state? Your state securities administrator (p. 127) lists individuals and firms that are registered in your state. Ask whether the regulatory office has any other background information. You can find out how to reach your state securities administrator by visiting www.nasaa.org.
- Has the person had any run-ins with regulators or received serious complaints from investors? Call your local state securities administrator or the SEC (p. 103). Check BrokerCheck at www.finra.org/brokercheck to find licensing, employment, and disciplinary information.
- How is the person paid? Is it an hourly rate, a flat fee, or a commission that depends on the investments you make?
- What are the fees for setting up and servicing your account?

LICENSES AND PROFESSIONAL TITLES

An advisor can have multiple titles and be authorized to provide multiple services, including investment services, financial planning, and insurance products. Check FINRA’s Investment Professional tool at www.finra.org/investors/professional-designations to understand the designations, the educational and ethical requirements to earn them, and the organizations that offer them. The SEC, FINRA, and state regulators do not grant or endorse any professional titles. Professional titles are not the same as licenses or registrations. A license is granted by government authorities, and offer you legal protection.

SUITEABILITY VERSUS FIDUCIARY STANDARDS

When you interview potential financial planners, ask if they operate under a suitability or fiduciary standard.

- Suitability standard applies to broker-dealers. This standard requires brokers to evaluate an investment option and determine that it can suit your needs, based on your financial situation. However, they are also concerned about how their recommendations benefit their company financially.
- Fiduciary standard rules apply to investment advisors. This standard requires the advisor to put your best interest first. They must give advice based on detailed and thorough research, and fully disclose all important facts. In addition, they avoid conflicts of interest, putting your financial interest above their own.

INVESTING

CROWDFUNDING
Crowdfunding is a way for companies, entrepreneurs, or artists to raise money. After setting a fundraising goal and deadline to reach that goal, the creator markets the campaign to potential backers, or investors. Before you contribute:

- Research the company. Is there any information available about the product or service they want to offer? Are there complaints related to the company or campaign creator with the state attorneys general about fraud?
- “All or nothing” or “Flexible Funding” If the campaign is an “all or nothing” campaign, the creator only gets the pledged money if they reach the fundraising goal. If the campaign is a “flexible funding” campaign, the creator will receive all the donations, even if they did not reach the fundraising goal.

- Timing of payments. Does the fundraising website charge your credit card immediately after you pledge?
- Rewards. What rewards, or returns, will you receive in exchange for your investment? Do you get to pre-order the product that the company is producing? Are there different rewards, based on how much you invested?
- Refunds. Are you able to get a refund if the company does not reach their fundraising goal or complete the project? If so, do you need to get the refund from the website or directly from the campaign creator?
- Taxes. Is your contribution tax deductible?

COMMODITIES
Trading in commodity futures is different from investing. Commodity futures are an agreement to buy or sell a specific quantity of a variety of commodities such as precious metals, grains, or other natural resources. Trading commodity futures and options is a volatile, complex and risky venture that is rarely suitable for individual investors or “retail customers.” Before participating in the commodities market, check the registration status and background of the person and company at www.nfa.futures.org/basicnet. Anyone who trades or gives advice to the public about futures and other derivatives must be registered with the National Futures Association (p. 137). The CFTC also provides additional information about how to protect yourself before and during trading in the commodities and options markets at www.cftc.gov/ConsumerProtection.

REAL ESTATE
There are multiple ways to invest in real estate:

- Investment property - You buy a house, apartment building, or commercial space to rent to tenants.
- Real estate investment group - You buy property from one of these companies and rent it out to a tenant. The real estate investment group provides property management services, including maintenance and tenant selection, in exchange for a portion of the rent.
- Real estate investment trusts (REIT) - A REIT is a security that invests in real estate and sells shares of ownership to investors. Shares are sold on the major exchanges, like any other stock.
- Real estate trading (“flipping”) - You buy a property, with the goal of reselling it for a profit in the short term. The price increase and profits are due to a hot property market or major renovations and improvements you make to the property.

It generally takes a significant amount of time to earn money from investing in real estate. Be cautious of pitches or ads that promise great returns in a short time period from investing in real estate, or promise huge profits without risk. These are often a scam.

Before you select a real estate investment, consider these questions.

- What are your goals? Do you want to earn revenue from rental payments, make a profit when you sell the property, or both?
- Have you done research? Research neighborhoods and prices. Look at properties and set criteria to evaluate potential properties that you would like to buy. Understand the housing market and determine if prices are increasing, or if there is a need or demand for rental property in the neighborhood.
- Do you plan to hire a realtor? A licensed realtor can help you locate properties, share information about an area’s pricing, zoning rules, and growth potential.
- Do you plan to be a landlord or hire a property manager? There are major responsibilities involved with managing a property, such as selecting tenants, paying mortgage and insurance, maintenance and repairs, collecting rent, and handling tenant complaints and disputes. A qualified property manager could cut into your profits, but if they are experienced, could help save you money in the operations of your property.
- Do you have enough for a down payment? You may be required to pay 20% or more as a down payment. Mortgages for investment property don’t qualify for private mortgage insurance or a reduced down payment.
- Can you afford to own a rental property? In addition to the mortgage, you need a cash reserve to pay for repairs, taxes, and unexpected expenses. You should also have money set aside for months when your building is vacant, so that you are still able to pay the mortgage.
- Have you shopped around? Compare interest rates that banks are offering on mortgages for investment properties. They are often higher than the interest rate on a mortgage for a primary residence, as these mortgages are more risky to a bank.
RETIREMENT PLANNING
As you approach retirement, there are many factors to consider. Experts advise that you will need about 80% of your pre-retirement income in your retirement years. The exact amount depends on your individual needs.

Some questions to ask:
- At what age do you plan to retire?
- Will your spouse or partner retire when you do?
- Where do you plan to live? Will you downsize, own, or rent your home?
- Do you expect to work part time?
- Will you have the same medical insurance you had while working? Will coverage change?
- Do you want to travel or pursue a new hobby that might be costly?
- If you have a financial advisor, talk to him or her about your plans.

In addition to planning to maintain your lifestyle during retirement, you may need to purchase long-term health insurance (p. 32) or pay for assisted-living services (p. 23).

Take advantage of interactive tools and calculators that help you plan your retirement. For example, at www.consumerfinance.gov/retirement, the Consumer Financial Protection Bureau offers interactive tools to help you see how your social security retirement benefits will change, based on factors like your age, life expectancy, or marital status. Also, use estimators, like the ones at www.choosetosave.org/ballpark, to learn how much you need to save to retire comfortably.

INVESTING SCAMS
Be aware of these common signs of investment scams:
- Scammers offer free lunches or seminars, posing as financial planners to pitch appealing investment offers.
- Offers for high or guaranteed profits.
- Sales pitches saying the investment is “risk-free”.
- Pressure to invest immediately or limited opportunities.
- Pyramid schemes, where investors make money from recruiting more investors, rather than from sales or profits from a stock or product.

Take steps to protect yourself:
- Research investment opportunities and investment professionals.
- Get all details of an investment in writing.
- For more information or to file a complaint, contact:
  - Your state securities administrator (p. 127)
  - The Securities and Exchange Commission (p. 103)

Your personal information is a valuable resource for identity thieves, scammers, and even to corporations. Data breaches of customer databases and payment processing systems at retailers highlight the importance of protecting your privacy, while making sure companies with which you do business do the same.

Identity thieves steal your personal information to commit fraud. They can damage your credit status and cost you time and money to restore your good name. You may not know that you are the victim of ID theft until you experience a financial consequence (mystery bills, credit collections, denied loans) down the road from actions that the thief has taken with your ID. Follow these tips to protect yourself:
- Secure your Social Security card. Don’t carry it in your wallet or write your number on your checks. Only give out your social security number (SSN) when absolutely necessary.
- Protect your PIN. Never write a PIN on a credit or debit card or on a slip of paper kept in your wallet.
- Watch out for “shoulder surfers.” Shield the keypad when typing your passwords on computers and at ATMs.
- Be skeptical. Don’t respond to unsolicited requests for personal information (your name, birthdate, social Synthetic identity theft is a version of identity theft. In traditional ID theft, the thief steals all of the personal information of one person to create a new identity. However, with synthetic ID theft, a thief steals pieces of information from different people to create a new identity. For example, the thief may steal one person’s social security number, combine it with another person’s name, and use someone else’s address to create a brand new identity. The thief can then use this fraudulent identity to apply for credit, rent an apartment, or make major purchases.

While you cannot prevent synthetic ID theft, you should still get copies of your credit report to check for accounts you did not open. Also, contact the credit reporting agencies to ask if there is a fragmented file (a sub-account that uses your social security number but not your name) attached to your main credit file. If this is the case, you may be the victim of synthetic identity theft. Report all cases of identity theft to the Federal Trade Commission (p. 102).

- Collect mail promptly. Ask the post office to put your mail on hold when you are away from home for more than a day or two.
- Pay attention to your billing cycles. If bills or financial statements are late, contact the sender.
- Keep your receipts. Ask for carbons and incorrect charge slips as well. Promptly compare receipts with account statements. Watch for unauthorized transactions.
- Tear up or shred unwanted receipts, credit offers, account statements, and expired cards, to prevent “dumpster divers” (p. 7) from getting your personal information.
- Store personal information in a safe place at home and at work.
- Install firewalls and virus-detection software on your home computer.
- Create complex passwords that identity thieves cannot guess easily.
- Order your credit report once a year. Check it more frequently if you suspect someone has gained access to your account information. See “Order Your Free Credit Reports” (p. 15).

REPORT IDENTITY THEFT

If you are a victim of identity theft, report it immediately. Visit www.IdentityTheft.gov for a guide on what to do to limit the damage. Follow these steps:

- Report it to your financial institutions. Call the phone number on your account statement or on the back of your credit or debit card.
- File a report with the Federal Trade Commission. This detailed report is also called an ID theft affidavit.
- Report the fraud to your local police. Keep a copy of the police report, which will make it easier to prove your case to creditors and retailers. Together, your ID theft affidavit and your police report make up your ID theft report.
- Contact the credit reporting agencies (p. 15) and ask them to flag your account with a fraud alert, which asks merchants not to grant new credit without your approval. An ID theft report will help you deal with the credit reporting agencies and companies that extended credit to the identity thief using your name. Visit www.IdentityTheft.gov/#what-to-do-right-away for more information about creating an ID theft report. You can file your complaint with the FTC at www.FTCComplaintAssistant.gov or by calling toll free 1-877-438-4338.

PROTECT YOUR PRIVACY

Your personal data is always being shared. Companies, known as data brokers, compile information about your income, family size, email addresses, stores and websites you visit, the brands you buy, credit cards used, hobbies, and your demographic information to create a profile about you and your lifestyle.

ID THEFT

Here are some common schemes that ID thieves use to steal your identity.

Telemarketing. An ID thief may call you, making fraudulent offers for products, benefits or medical services. The caller will require you to provide personal information, such as your social security number, birth date, or Medicare ID number.

Tax ID theft. In some cases, phony tax preparers steal your social security number and sell it to scammers. In others, someone files a tax return, using your social security number. For more information contact the IRS’ Taxpayer Advocate Service at 1-877-275-8271 or visit www.IRS.gov/uac/Taxpayer-Advocate-Service-6.

Medical ID theft. Medical service providers can take advantage of access to your insurance information to get medical services in your name, or to issue fraudulent billing to you and your health insurer.

Child ID theft. Children’s IDs are vulnerable because children don’t need to file taxes or use their social security numbers to apply for loans for many years. By the time they are adults, the damage has already been done. Follow the steps listed on www.IdentityTheft.gov for a full guide on how to limit the impact of identity theft.
Some of the information you give willingly, but other bits of your personal information are collected in ways you may not realize. Data brokers often collect location-based data from your mobile phone, wearables like fitness trackers or sleep monitors, or from certain apps. Your information is analyzed by brokers to develop scoring and models to help them understand your behavior, and sell your consumer profiles to retailers and marketers.

There is also the “Internet of Things”, with sensors in household appliances, cars, and thermostats that monitor your behavior and communicate between each other and across networks.

Retailers use your information to offer targeted special promotions, customize the online ads you see, and even the prices you are charged for items. While this can be a bonus and help you get good deals, it all comes at the cost of your personal privacy. Unlike credit reports or scores, you cannot access or review the data files that have been created about you, or even know the data brokerage companies you should contact to correct inaccuracies. These data reports can also result in discrimination, where some consumers are only targeted with high interest loans or inferior financial products. Take these steps to protect your privacy:

- If you apply for a store loyalty card, do not include your full name so that it, and your purchase behavior, cannot be connected to your other consumer profiles.
- If you want to keep your purchase behavior private, consider using cash rather than electronic payment options.
- Maintain a separate email address for coupons and promotions from retailers.
- Be careful about what you post on social media. Data brokers may scrape information you post to enhance the information that they have in your consumer profile.
- Disable cookies when shopping online, to prevent companies from tracking your online browsing behavior.
- Beware of using cell phones in stores or using the public Wi-Fi in a store. By using these networks, stores may know which items you looked at and which aisles you visited.
- Look for privacy statements on websites, sales materials, and forms you fill out. If a website claims to follow a set of established voluntary standards, read the standards. Don’t assume it provides the level of privacy you want.
- Ask how your personal information will be stored and used.
- Only provide the purchase date, model and serial numbers, and your contact information on warranty registration forms.
- Opt-out if you do not want the company to share your email address with other companies.

Check with your state or local consumer agency (p. 106) to find out whether any state laws help protect your privacy. Some companies and industry groups have also adopted voluntary policies that address privacy concerns.

EDUCATION PRIVACY

Education privacy deals with the storage, control, sharing, and destruction of students’ educational records. The Federal Education Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA) gives parents of school aged children (kindergarten through 12th grade) access to their education records. This act also restricts who the school can share the information with, such as other schools, without needing permission from a student’s parent. Take action:

- Opt out of having your child’s personal information used for directories that can be shared with third parties.
- Ask for documentation about the purpose of the data collection, if a school says that data collection is required.

Find out how the data will be used, stored, and destroyed.

For more information, visit www2.ed.gov/policy/gen/guid/fpco/ferpa/index.html or call 1-800-872-5327.

Another education privacy issue involves data breaches, especially at colleges and universities. When these happen, social security numbers, birthdates, grades, addresses and other personal information are compromised. These breaches can impact students’ academic records and financial aid, while making them vulnerable to identity theft. If your college has experienced a data breach find out

WHAT TO DO AFTER A DATA BREACH

Data breaches of large organizations, such as retailers, schools, and employers have become common. These events can make your identity prone to identity theft. If you've been affected by a breach, have a plan of action:

- Sign up for a free credit monitoring service, if it is offered by the organization that experienced the breach. This service can alert you if credit accounts are opened with your information. If you have been involved in breaches from several companies, sign up for all the monitoring services. The services may be provided through different credit reporting agencies, and may detect different activities.
  - Change passwords on any accounts connected to your compromised information.

- Contact the credit reporting agencies (Equifax, Experian, and TransUnion) to place freezes on your credit reports. This makes it difficult for someone to apply for credit in your name.

- If the breach involved a credit or debit card, your issuer may send you a new card with a new number. Update any accounts where the old card number was stored for easy payment or automatic recurring charges.

- Check your bank or credit card statements closely. Report suspicious charges to the fraud department.

FINANCIAL PRIVACY

The Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (p. 102) and other federal regulators require banks, insurance companies, brokerage firms, and certain businesses that share financial information to inform you of their privacy policies. They must give you this information when you open an account and at least once every year. This includes:

• The kinds of information being collected.
• How the confidentiality and security of your information will be protected.
• What types of businesses may be provided this information.

If a business is going to share the information with anyone outside its corporate family, it must also give you the chance to “opt-out” or say “no” to information sharing. Even if you do not opt-out, your account numbers may not be shared with third parties for marketing purposes.

You cannot prevent certain types of information from being shared, including information needed to conduct normal business or protect against fraud, or information that is already publicly available. Also, a bank can share your information with a partner company to market products.

Your credit information has additional privacy protections under the Fair Credit Reporting Act. Only people with a legitimate business need can get a copy of your report. Unless prohibited by state law, an employer can get your report with your written consent. See Credit Reports and Scores on page 15 for more information on your rights under this federal law, and to find out how you can get a copy of your credit reports.

MEDICAL PRIVACY

Personal information you give to your doctor is shared with insurance companies, pharmacies, researchers, and employers based on specific regulations. The privacy of your health records is protected by federal law, specifically under the Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act (HIPAA). The Act:

• Defines your rights over your health information.
• Sets rules and limits on who is allowed to receive and/or see your health information.

The Department of Health and Human Services, Office for Civil Rights (p. 95) is a resource for complete details and advice about the HIPAA ruling. The Office for Civil Rights also provides a listing of resources for consumers, providers, and advocates, along with fact sheets and other educational materials.

You can request a copy of your medical records from your medical provider, or from the hospital where medical services were provided, for a fee.

If you believe that a person, agency, or organization covered under the HIPAA Privacy Rule violated your health information privacy rights or committed another violation of the Privacy Rule, file a written complaint with the Department of Health and Human Services, Office for Civil Rights (p. 95).

PRIVACY SCAMS

Be aware of common signs of identity theft and privacy scams:

• You receive emails or phone calls asking you to verify your social security number, birthdate, account numbers, or passwords.
• You stop receiving mail, such as credit card or bank statements.

Take steps to protect yourself:

• Shred sensitive documents that include your personal information.
• Don’t respond to requests for personal information in emails or by phone, or with any stranger.
• Get a free copy of your credit report to verify that no one opened accounts in your name.

For more information or to file a complaint, contact:

• The Federal Trade Commission (p. 102)
• Your local police department

Farcing scams are designed to steal your online identity. It starts when you receive a friend request from someone who supposedly shares mutual friends with you. Once you accept the request, the scammer searches your online profile to collect personal data about you, such as your schools, employers, and family. They may even contact you directly to ask more questions about you. Your information will be used to steal your identity.

Take these steps to protect your social media identity:

• Use the privacy settings on social media websites to manage who can access your profile.
• Don’t accept a friend request from someone you don’t know. If you are interested in accepting it, ask the mutual friends that you supposedly have in common who the person is. Ignore the request if they can’t confirm the person’s identity.
• Be cautious if you receive direct messages from new friends that request details or personal information.
• Notify the social media platform if your profile has been hacked or images have been stolen.

Visit www.OnguardOnline.gov for more online safety tips.
Visit the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, Office for Civil Rights website at www.hhs.gov/ocr/privacy for more information on how the federal government protects your personal health information.

ONLINE PRIVACY
In addition to following the general advice on protecting your privacy, make sure you only use websites with acceptable privacy policies.

- Look for a privacy policy statement or seal that indicates the site abides by privacy standards. Take the time to read how your privacy is protected.
- Look for signals that you are using a secure web page. A secure site encrypts or scrambles personal information so it cannot be intercepted easily. Signs include a screen notice that says you are on a secure site, a closed padlock or unbroken key in the bottom corner of your screen, or a change in the first letters of the Internet address you are viewing from “http” to “https.”
- Be careful about what information on your phone you allow applications (apps) to have access to.
- Secure information on smartphones. Password protect your phone and apps, such as mobile wallets or bank accounts that can be hacked.

Another threat to your privacy is spyware, software that is secretly installed when you download games, music, and other applications. Spyware sends information about your online activities to a third party, usually to target you with pop-up ads. You can install anti-spyware software to stop this threat to your privacy. See the Internet section on this page for more information.

TELECOMMUNICATIONS

Choices for phone service, Internet, and television have never been greater. As devices have multiple functions, such as the ability to watch television shows on your computer or surf the Internet using your phone, your decisions about each of these services may overlap. Most consumers are now able to bundle phone, TV, and Internet service for a discount. However, buying a bundle of services could make it difficult to change providers for any one service if you are tied into a long-term contract. Before you buy, compare service providers to make sure you get the service and features you want, for the best price.

INTERNET
Choosing Service Providers
You will need an Internet Service Provider (ISP) to connect your computer to the Internet. Some companies limit their service to providing Internet access only. Others, such as a telephone or cable company, may offer Internet access as part of a larger package of services.

Consider these factors when selecting a provider:
- Speed. If you only want to check email and view web pages, a dial-up connection may be enough. But if you want to download music or television shows, or watch videos, you will need a faster connection with broadband access, such as a digital subscriber line (DSL), cable modem, or satellite.
- Availability. Which companies offer service in your area?
- Wireless access. Can you get a wireless connection for other computers in your home?
- Email. Do email accounts come with the service? What will be the storage limit on your mailbox?
- Software. Is any software required to activate the service?

BILL CREEP
Have you ever wondered how your Internet service bill jumped from $30 to $50 a month in just a few years? If so, then you have experienced “bill creep”, where the costs of a monthly expense creeps up. In some cases, the costs crept up because you added features. However, it may be due to higher prices charged by service providers for the same level of service. The price increases are usually small dollar amounts, but over time those climbing prices can take a toll on your budget. Take these steps to protect yourself from bill creep:
- Review your monthly statements to know what you’re really paying.
- Cut out services that you are not actually using.
- Consider unbundling services.
- Contact companies to negotiate lower rates.
- Find out if the service providers have deals to reward loyal customers rather than just get new customers.
- Research cheaper options that meet your needs.
- If your discount prices are going to expire at a certain date, mark the date on your calendar and make an active decision to cancel your service or see if you can get a better deal.
• Technical support. What kinds of tech support are available—phone, email, chat? Is the support free?

• Special features. What services are provided for spam blocking or virus protection?

• Terms of service. Is there a limit to the amount of data you can use per month? Do you have to sign an annual contract with the ISP?

• Cost. What is the monthly fee for the service? Are there fees for renting a modem or set up?

If you have a low household income, you may qualify for low-cost Internet service. Check with the Internet service providers in your area or your public utility commission (p. 131) for details.

Wi-Fi (Wireless)

Going wireless provides you with the freedom to use your computer in multiple locations. However, with this increased freedom comes the danger of increased vulnerability. Wireless Internet requires that you have access to a wireless network via a wireless router. It is important that you secure your network so strangers (or neighbors) cannot use your network without your knowledge (also known as “piggybacking”). Also, computer hackers could use your network to access personal information you save on, or send from, your computer. This is particularly important if you conduct financial transactions online. If you use the wireless (Wi-Fi) network at bookstores, airports, coffee shops, or other public places, there are other precautions you should take to protect your privacy.

At home:

• Turn on encryption. When you buy a wireless router, it is important to turn on the encryption feature. This scrambles information that you send over the Internet so other people cannot access it.

• Rename your router. Change the name from the manufacturer’s default name to something only you would know.

• Change the password. Routers come with a standard password. Create a new one with a mix of letters, numbers, and special characters.

• Turn off your router when you are not using it.

• Be aware of cookies. Cookies are small text files that some websites place on your computer to collect information about the pages you view and your activities on the site. They also allow the site to recognize you when you return. Visit www.ftc.gov/ftc/cookies.shtm for more information.

On public wireless networks:

• Don’t assume the network is secure. Most public wireless networks do not encrypt information you send. Avoid sending private information from public locations. Or, consider using a virtual private network (VPN) to secure information you send via public networks.

• Verify that you are connecting to a trusted network. Some scammers create free, unsecured Wi-Fi networks, similar to the names of trusted ones. If you use it, they can steal all the information (usernames, passwords, account numbers) that you enter.

• Use encrypted websites. If you send sensitive information from a public network, make certain that the URL starts with “https” (“s” means secure). Look for that on every page you visit.

• Log off sites after you finish using them rather than using “remember me” features. Visit www.OnGuardOnline.gov for more information about wireless computing.

Spam

Spam is unsolicited commercial email. You can decrease the amount of spam email you receive by making it difficult for spammers to get, and use, your email address:

• Don’t use an obvious email address, such as JaneDoe@isp.com. Instead use numbers or special characters, such as Jane4oe6@isp.com.

• Use one email address for close friends and family and another for everyone else.

• Don’t post your email address on a public web page. Spammers use software that harvests text addresses. Substitute “jane4oe6 at isp dot com” for “jane4oe6@isp.com,” or display your address as a graphic image, instead of the text.

• Don’t enter your address on a website before you check its privacy policy.

• Uncheck any checked boxes. Otherwise, you may be giving permission for the website and its partners to contact you.

• Don’t click on an email’s “unsubscribe” link unless you trust the sender. This action tells the sender you are there.

• Never forward chain letters, petitions, or virus warnings. It could be a spammer’s trick to collect addresses.

• Disable your email “preview pane.” This stops spam from reporting to its sender that you have received the email.

• Choose an email system that filters email. If you get lots of spam, it may not be filtering effectively.
TELECOMMUNICATIONS

TELECOMMUNICATIONS SCAMS

Be aware of these common signs of telecommunications scams:

• You receive a call, or pop-up notice on your screen, with a false claim that your computer is infected with a virus.
• Scammers send emails that include links that can install viruses, freeze your computer, or ask you to share personal information.
• Scammers set up free public Wi-Fi hotspots. They can detect and steal everything you type, including passwords and credit card numbers.

Take steps to protect yourself:

• Hang up or don’t respond to emails or calls about viruses on your computer.
• Don’t click on links in emails or ads from companies you don’t know. This “click-bait” can download malware onto your computer or smartphone.
• Don’t use unsecured or unknown Wi-Fi hotspots.

For more information or to file a complaint, contact:
• The Federal Communications Commission (p. 102)
• The Federal Trade Commission (p. 102)

Slamming and Cramming
“Slamming” occurs when a phone company illegally switches your phone service without your permission. “Cramming” occurs when companies add charges to your phone bill without your permission. These charges may be unnoticed because they are relatively small ($5 to $30).

Take these steps to avoid slammers and crammers:

• Block changes to your phone service. Ask your telephone service provider to notify you before making any changes to your service.
• Read the fine print on contest entry forms and coupons. You could be agreeing to switch your phone service or to buy optional services.
• Watch out for impostors. Companies could falsely claim to be your regular phone company and offer some type of discount plan or change in billing. They may also say they are taking a survey or they may pretend to be a government agency.
• Beware of “negative option notices.” You can be switched or signed up for optional services unless you say “NO” to telemarketers.
• Examine your telephone bill carefully, including pages that show the details, and look for suspicious charges.

Your phone service cannot be shut off for refusal to pay for unauthorized services. Contact your local or state consumer protection agency (p. 106), state public utilities commission (p. 131), or the FCC (p. 102) for help.

Cell Phones

Before you choose a plan and a company that meets your needs, you should consider these questions:

Where can you make and receive calls? Most providers now offer a choice of local or national plans. A local plan offers low-cost options if most of your calls are made near your home or specific calling areas. National plans are the most expensive, but they let you use your phone anywhere in the country for a single per-minute price.

How frequently will you use the phone? If you don’t use your phone often, a few minutes a month may be all you need. On the other hand, if your cell phone is your primary phone, a plan with the lowest airtime rate is a wiser choice.

PHONES

Most consumers are now able to buy local and long-distance phone service from their telephone company, cable or satellite TV provider, or ISP. Services such as voice mail, call waiting, caller ID, and wireless may be offered as a package deal or sold separately. Before you buy, compare services and prices and think about what you really need.

Find out how each company prices its services. Are there minimum use, time-of-day, or distance requirements; flat monthly fees; or special plans? For example, wireless service may be cheaper than regular local service if you do not make many calls. Make sure you are comparing prices on similar plans and features. Read the fine print and ask questions if there is anything you are not clear about.

The Federal Communications Commission (p. 102) offers information about choosing a long-distance carrier, understanding new phone fees and taxes, and more at www.fcc.gov/consumers. The FCC also offers information to help you understand phone charges at transition.fcc.gov/cgb/consumerfacts/understanding.pdf.
Is a family plan option available? You can share one cellular service plan and a pool of monthly usage minutes among several phone lines. The cost of the additional lines per month is usually less than if you purchased individual accounts.

Parental controls? Can you set controls that filter how your child uses a mobile phone?

Device upgrades. How often can you upgrade your smart phone? What fees do you pay for this service?

What if you want to cancel your service? Read your contract to see if you have to pay a termination fee or if there is a clause that allows you to cancel for free.

Several large mobile service providers have stopped offering standard two-year contract plans, with a reduced price for the phone. Instead, they will sell the phone at full price, either paid at once or over the life of the phone. The companies may also lease the phone to you, but you will have to return it to the company when you get a new one.

Be sure to keep track of your usage and understand your cell phone bill to avoid “bill shock.” Visit www.fcc.gov/encyclopedia/bill-shock to learn how to better monitor your usage.

Smart Phones
Smart phones are like miniature computers. They provide basic phone functions, along with advanced features, including browsing the Internet, accessing email, interacting on online social networks, listening to music, watching videos, uploading pictures, and using apps.

When shopping for a smart phone, consider these tips:

• Compare the cost of data plans. These plans govern use and costs associated with mobile access for email, web browsing, social networking, and applications.

• Take advantage of special pricing and promotions.

• Will the service provider “throttle”, or reduce the speed of your data transmission after you hit a certain amount of usage? If so, will you get a warning beforehand?

• Is there a limit on the amount of data you can use each month?

• Be wary of buying phone insurance, which may sound tempting; consumer groups generally advise against it.

Since smart phones are like miniature computers, many of the same privacy and safety concerns apply. See Online Privacy (p. 41) for more information on how to protect yourself from these concerns.

Pay-As-You-Go Plans
If you don’t plan to use a cell phone often or only for emergencies, you may want to consider a prepaid cell phone before you commit to a long-term wireless contract. With a prepaid cell phone, there is no contract to sign and no monthly bill. You will know exactly how much you spend. The downside of prepaid plans is that you pay more per minute and, if you do not use the phone for an extended period of time, you may lose the balance in your account.

TV
There are many choices for consumers looking to buy a new television. Before buying a new TV, do your homework. It is important to see the screens in person before buying to make sure the one you select will meet your needs. For independent ratings and reviews, check out Consumer Reports at www.consumerreports.org. Additional information is also available at www.energystar.gov. Once you have a television, there are several options for tuning into the channels. In addition to free television, you can subscribe to cable, satellite or Internet TV.

Cable
You can start with a basic lineup of channels and additional tiers of channels. The more channels you want, the more it will cost. You may want to consider video on demand so you can order movies and sports events and watch them when you like (usually within a 24-hour window). You can also buy a bundle of services that includes digital TV, digital phone, and broadband Internet access at discounted rates. Keep in mind, however, that you may be asked to sign a contract for bundled services.

How Smart Is Your TV?
Smart TVs, part TV and part computer, allow you to access the Internet, online apps, use streaming video services, and even chat via video. Smart TVs can include recommendations for other shows and apps that you may enjoy.

Smart TVs track your viewing and online browsing behavior. Many manufacturers of these TVs develop terms and conditions for using the interactive features. The terms often appear on the screen the first time you turn on the TV. If you choose not to agree with the terms, your access to the interactive features may be limited or stripped away.

Before you buy a Smart TV, find out:

• How long will the licenses between the TV manufacturer and content providers last? If licenses expire, you won’t be able to access those features with the TV anymore.

• Can you access the services that you prefer? Will there be updates to the software to allow new services and apps to be added in the future?

• Is your Internet connection fast enough to provide a smooth video connection?

• How comparable are the features of smart TVs with those available from gaming systems, Blu-ray players or set-top streaming devices?

• What data does the smart TV model collect about you? Who is it shared with?

• Can you turn off tracking and targeted advertisements on your Smart TV?

• Are you able to use any of the functions of the Smart TV if you decline the manufacturer’s terms and conditions?
Satellite
This service requires a dish that is mounted outside your home (service requires an unobstructed view of the satellite) and a receiver that is placed by your television. Satellite TV offers comparable channels to cable TV, and you can add a digital video recorder to record shows for viewing later. Check with your satellite TV provider for channel options and prices. As with cable TV, you may be asked to sign a contract for a package of services. One downside to satellite TV is occasional interference during periods of rain or snow. Find out if there are additional fees for the repositioning of a satellite dish due to bad weather, or for damages due to falling tree limbs.

Internet TV
If you have a high-speed Internet connection, you are already able to watch videos on your computer. There are also streaming services for online programming. Before you choose, find out:

• Is a set top box required to use the service? Does it include its own Wi-Fi connection?
• Do you pay a flat monthly fee or pay per each episode or movie you watch?
• Does the streaming service offer programs you want to see? Does the program catalog feature new releases?
• Are you more interested in movies, TV series or original programming? Not all streaming services provide all types of video content.
• What is the quality of the video?

Tell companies you do business with to remove your name from customer lists they rent or sell to others. Look for information on how to opt-out of marketing lists on sales materials, order forms, and websites.

Opt-out of receiving unsolicited commercial mail from many national companies for three years. Visit www.dmachoice.org to register. Use the services provided by the Direct Marketing Association (p. 136) to remove your name from most national telemarketing, mail, and email lists.

Under U.S. Postal Service (USPS) rules, it is illegal to send mail that looks like it is from a government agency when it is not. It is also illegal to send mail that looks like a bill when nothing was ordered, unless it clearly states that it is not a bill. Report violations of this rule to the USPS (p. 103).

NATIONAL DO NOT CALL REGISTRY
The federal government’s Do Not Call Registry allows you to restrict telemarketing calls permanently by registering your phone number at www.donotcall.gov or by calling 1-888-382-1222. If you receive telemarketing calls after your number has been in the national registry for 31 days, you can file a complaint using the same web page and toll free number. Contact your state’s consumer protection office (p. 106) to find out if your state has its own Do Not Call (DNC) list and how you can add your number to it.

SHOP WITH A DIRECT SELLER
Direct sellers offer many unique and quality products at home parties or person-to-person. The Direct Selling Education Foundation recommends that you ask these questions to protect yourself before you buy:

• Is the company that the seller represents a member of the Direct Selling Association (DSA)? If so, do they have a copy of and adhere to DSA’s enforced Code of Ethics? The Code of Ethics is designed to protect you.
• When will your order be delivered?
• Can the seller explain the return policy or how to cancel an order?
• Does the seller have documentation for any claims he or she makes about products or services?
• How does the seller protect your credit card and personal information?
• Do you like and will you use the products? This is especially important before you sign up for an automatic monthly shipping program.

Contact the DSA for more information at www.dsa.org or www.directselling.org.
TELEMARKETING AND UNWANTED MAIL

Placing your number on this national registry will stop most telemarketing calls, but not all of them. Calls that are still permitted include those from political organizations, charities, telephone surveyors, and some organizations with which you have a relationship.

Cell phone numbers can also be added to the Do Not Call Registry (www.donotcall.gov), but it is not necessary, since telemarketers are already forbidden to call them.

PRE-RECORDED MESSAGES

Pre-recorded sales calls or robocalls are illegal. Companies cannot transmit these messages or send text messages to consumers who have not agreed, in writing, to accept such messages. A company cannot contact you based on a prior business relationship. Pre-recorded calls may only be made to residential telephone numbers in the following cases:

- Emergency calls needed to ensure your health and safety.
- Calls that do not include any unsolicited advertisements.
- Calls by, or on behalf of, tax-exempt nonprofit organizations.
- Calls for which you have given prior consent.

If you receive pre-recorded telemarketing calls but have not agreed to get them, file a complaint with the FCC at www.donotcall.gov or by calling 1-888-225-5322. You should also be able to block robocalls on your landline or mobile phone.

TELEMARKETING SALES CALLS

The FTC Telemarketing Sales Rule defines what telemarketers can and cannot do when making a sales call. Callers must:

- Provide the seller’s name.
- Disclose that the call is a sales call.
- Tell you exactly what they are trying to sell.
- Disclose the total cost and other terms of sale before you make any payment for goods or services.
- Tell you if they do not allow refunds, exchanges, or cancellations.

If a prize is involved, the caller must give you the odds of winning, inform you that no purchase is necessary, and tell you how to get instructions for entering without buying anything. It is illegal for telemarketers to:

- Misrepresent what they are offering.
- Call before 8 am or after 9 pm.
- Threaten, intimidate, or harass you, or call again if you ask them not to.
- Require you to pay with a money transfer service or a reloadable prepaid card, both of which are favored payment methods for scammers.

This rule applies even when you receive a call from a telemarketer in another state or country. It also applies when you make a call to a company in another state or country in response to a mail solicitation.

The rule generally does not apply when you call to order from a catalog or in response to an ad on television or radio, or in a magazine or newspaper. It also does not apply to solicitations you receive by fax or email. Beware that certain types of businesses, including nonprofit organizations, investment brokers and advisors, and banks and financial institutions, are exempt from the rule.

The Federal Communications Commission also has the Telephone Consumer Protection Act to protect you from unwanted calls. Under this rule, you can revoke consent at any time, even if you previously agreed to receive calls from a company. Also, a company can’t limit your access to sales or offers, based on whether or not you agree to accept telemarketing calls.

Some telemarketers advertise “free” trial offers to entice new customers. They may ask for your credit card number, when you agree to the free offer. But beware, these free trials often aren’t free. The seller may use the “free to pay” conversion tactic, where the free offer automatically converts to a monthly subscription for the product. You will be charged monthly for the items, and it can be difficult to cancel the subscription. Before you accept that free offer, ask if they automatically convert the trial to a paid service and how you can opt-out. Otherwise you could find yourself paying for items you don’t want.

TELEMARKETING SCAMS

Be aware of these common signs of telemarketing scams:

- Someone calls and pressures you to make a purchase or donate to a fake charity.
- Someone calls you to confirm your account information, such as name, credit card numbers and passwords, but really steals your information.
- You are told you’ve won a prize or lottery, but you must pay a tax or fee to claim it.

Take steps to protect yourself:

- Register for the National Do Not Call Registry, at www.donotcall.gov, and your state’s do not call registry, if it has one.
- Research a charity before you donate, using the Wise Giving Alliance, Charity Navigator, or Guidestar.
- Don’t share or verify your personal information with anyone you don’t know, especially if you didn’t initiate the call.

For more information or to file a complaint, contact:

- The Federal Communications Commission (p. 102)
- The Federal Trade Commission (p. 102)

TRAVEL FEES

Fees are a common part of travel. While some fees are easy to understand, others have become more confusing, such as:

- Seat selection. You may pay a fee for the privilege of choosing your seat when you book your flight.
- Car rental. Beware of other costs, such as energy surcharges, concession fees, and facility fees.
- Resort. These fees give you access to fitness centers, golf courses, and other amenities. These may be charged to your account, whether or not you use them.
- Mini-bar. Some hotels charge you a restocking fee for replacing the items you purchased.
- Valet parking. Some hotels advertise valet parking as if it is an optional service, but some hotels make it mandatory.
- Carry-ons. Some airlines charge for carry-on bags.
- Wi-Fi. Does the hotel charge a fee for access to their Wi-Fi network?

Before you book your travel, contact airlines, car rental companies, and hotels to get an explanation of fee policies. Also, when you check out or complete your rental, review your receipt carefully. Speak up if you have been charged for something that you don’t understand or services you didn’t purchase.

Whether reserving a hotel room, buying plane tickets, or making other travel arrangements, these tips will help you get the deal that best suits your needs:

- Plan as far ahead as you can. Special deals on hotel rooms and airline seats often sell out very quickly.
- Be flexible in your travel plans. Hotels usually offer better rates on days when they expect fewer guests. Once you get a fare quote from an airline, ask if you can save money by leaving a day earlier or later, by taking a different flight on the same day, or by using a different airport. Changing planes during your trip is sometimes cheaper than a nonstop flight.
- Check out the seller. Ask tour operators and travel agents whether they belong to a professional association, then check to see if they are members in good standing. Confirm that you are booking your travel with a legitimate travel booking site, not a fake.
- Comparison shop. Determine the complete cost of the trip in dollars, including all service charges, baggage fees, taxes, and processing fees.
- Beware of unusually cheap prices and freebies. These could be a scam, and you could end up paying more than the cost of a regular package tour.
- Make sure you understand the terms of the deal. If you hear you have won a free vacation, ask whether you have to buy something in order to get it. Verify locations and amenities, especially if you are renting a private home.
- Ask about cancellation policies. Look into travel insurance for added protection (p. 33). Visit websites that offer pricing and policy information on plans from different companies.
- Insist on written confirmations. Ask for written proof of reservations, rates, and dates.
- Ask for the total price. Some airlines may sell each item separately, so the advertised price is much less than what you have to actually pay.
- Pay by credit card. Paying by credit card gives you the right to dispute charges for services that were misrepresented or never delivered. Your credit card may also offer insurance for booked travel and car rentals.
- Do you have valid ID? The Transportation Security Administration requires you to have a secure state drivers’ license or identification card in order to fly. If your license doesn’t comply, you will have to present a passport to board a flight, even between two U.S. cities. Find out if your state license complies at www.dhs.gov/real-id-enforcement-brief.
- Chip and PIN credit card. Do you have a credit card that uses embedded chip and PIN technology instead of a magnetic strip? If travelling internationally, you will probably need it, since magnetic strip credit cards are not accepted in some countries.
- Car rental. Are you renting a car? See “Renting” on page 12 to know your rights.

In some states, travel sellers must be registered and insured. Advance payments for travel must be placed in an escrow account until services are provided. Prizes or “free” gifts may also be regulated. Contact your state consumer protection agency (p. 106) to find out about your rights and how to file complaints.
RESOLVE AIR TRAVEL PROBLEMS

No matter how well you plan, you might encounter these common air travel hassles.

Delayed and Canceled Flights
Airline delays caused by bad weather, traffic control problems, and mechanical repairs are hard to predict. If your flight is canceled, most airlines will rebook you on the next earliest flight possible to your destination, at no additional charge. If you are able to find another flight on another airline, ask the first airline to endorse your ticket to the other carrier. This could save you from a fare increase, but there is no rule requiring the airline to do so.

Each airline has its own policies about what it will do for delayed passengers; there are no federal requirements. If your flight is delayed or canceled, ask the airline whether it will pay for meals, lodging, or a phone call. Contrary to what many people believe, airlines are not required to do so.

Delayed or Damaged Bags
If your bags are not on the conveyor belt when you arrive, file a report with the airline before you leave the airport:
- Insist the airline fill out a form and give you a copy, even if personnel say the bags will be on the next flight.
- Get the name of the person who filled out the form and a phone number.
- Confirm that the airline will deliver the bag to you without charge when it is found.

Some airlines will give you money to purchase a few necessities. If they do not provide you with cash, ask what types of articles are reimbursable and keep all receipts.

If a suitcase arrives damaged, the airline may pay for repairs if you file a claim immediately (before you leave the airport). If an item cannot be fixed, the airline will negotiate to pay you its depreciated value. The same is true for belongings packed inside a suitcase. However, airlines may refuse to pay for damage if it was caused by your failure to pack something properly rather than by the airline's handling.

Lost Bags
If your bag is declared officially lost, you will have to submit a second, more detailed form within a time period set by the airline. The information on the form is used to estimate the value of your lost belongings. Airlines can limit their liability for delay, loss, and damage to baggage; however, they must prominently display this information (on the website and/or at the ticket counter) that explains the limit. According to the Department of Transportation (www.dot.gov/briefing-room/news-digest-75), the maximum an airline pays on lost bags and their contents is limited to $3,400 per passenger on domestic flights, and approximately $1,500 per passenger for baggage on international flights. See www.thetravelinsider.info/travelaccessories/lostbaggagerights.htm for more information on maximum liability, including special rates that change daily.

If the airline's offer does not cover your loss fully, check your homeowner's or renter's insurance to see whether it covers losses away from home. Some credit card companies and travel agencies also offer optional or even automatic supplemental baggage coverage.

On those trips when you know you are carrying more than the liability limits, you may want to ask about purchasing “excess valuation” insurance from the airline when you check in. There is no guarantee the airline will sell you this protection. The airline may refuse, especially if the item is valuable or breakable.

Overbooked Flights
Selling more tickets than there are seats is not illegal. Most airlines overbook their flights to compensate for “no-shows.” If there are more passengers than seats just before a plane is scheduled to depart, you can be “bumped” or left behind against your will. Whether you are bumped may depend on when you officially checked in for your flight, so check-in early. The U.S. Department of Transportation requires airlines to ask people to give up their seats voluntarily in exchange for compensation. Airlines decide what to offer volunteers, such as money, a free trip, food, or lodging.

Passengers who are bumped involuntarily on most flights within the United States, and on outbound international flights are protected under Federal Aviation Administration guidelines (www.faa.gov). If you volunteer to be bumped, your agreement with the airline is not regulated and will depend on negotiating at the gate.

The airline must give you a written statement describing your rights as well as the airline’s boarding priority rules and criteria. If the airline is able to get you to your final destination within two hours of your original arrival time, there is no monetary compensation. If that is not possible, the airline must pay you an amount equal to 200% of your one-way fare, with a maximum of $650. To receive this payment, you must have a confirmed reservation. You must also meet the airline’s deadlines for ticketing and check-in. An airline may offer you a free ticket on a future flight in place of a check, but you have the right to insist on a check.

CRUISES

Taking a cruise can be a fun way to travel and enjoy an all-inclusive vacation. Before you sail, you should know that your ticket is also a binding contractual agreement between you and the cruise ship company, so it is important to read all of the terms and conditions in the ticket contract. You must agree to the terms, exactly as they are written, or you cannot take the cruise. Before you book tickets on a cruise, research the company and the ship’s history.

Some things to look out for when reading the contract:

- Cancellation policy. Some cruises require you to cancel 50 or more days in advance of the departure date. What are your rights if you have to cancel your trip? How far in advance do you have to cancel in order to get a refund? Will it be a partial or a full refund?
- Understand your legal rights. Your contract may limit your ability to sue the company or specify the time frame and location where a court case must be filed.
- Itinerary changes. The itinerary and ports of call can be changed at the captain’s discretion.
- Refunds. Are you able to get a refund in certain situations? If so, what portion of the cruise price will be refunded?

TRAVEL SAFETY

Several federal agencies offer advice and information on the Internet or mobile apps that can help you have a safe trip. For advice on:

- Airline, highway, and rail safety information: Check out the U.S. Department of Transportation (p. 100) at www.transportation.gov to look up crash-safety reports on cars and road conditions. Find out how weather is affecting air travel at www.fly.faa.gov and www.faa.gov/passengers.
- Safe travel by air, land, and sea: Refer to the Transportation Security Administration (p. 97) at www.tsa.gov/travel. This site posts tips on dealing with airline security checks, traveling with kids, and warnings on prohibited items.
- International travel: Before travelling internationally, enroll in the Smart Travel Enrollment Program (STEP) to get updates about the country you will be visiting. Visit www.state.gov/travel to get warnings on locations to avoid, and tips on what to do in an overseas emergency.
- Health-related travel information: Consult the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (p. 95) at www.cdc.gov/travel. Research vaccination requirements, find information on how to avoid illnesses caused by food and water, and review sanitation inspection scores on specific cruise ships.

TRAVEL SCAMS

Be aware of these common signs of travel scams:

- Phone calls or emails that say you have “won” a free vacation, but must pay a service fee in order to claim it.
- Scammers call selling fake vacation packages, putting pressure on you to “act now” to get a very low price.
- You qualify for travel at a low price, but find out about additional fees or requirements to book a second trip at a higher price.
- You prepay for a vacation package, but when it is time to travel, the reservation doesn’t exist.

Take steps to protect yourself:

- Don’t pay for “free” vacation prizes.
- Ask questions before buying vacation packages, including cancellation policies and reservation numbers.
- Verify ticket numbers with the airlines, cruiselines, and hotels, not just the reservation with the travel agency.
- Don’t give in to pressure to buy now. Do your research beforehand.
- Use credit cards to book travel, so that you can dispute charges for services you didn’t receive.

For more information or to file a complaint, contact:

- The Federal Trade Commission (p. 102)
- Your state consumer protection office (p. 106)
In many states, consumers can choose their telephone and energy service provider. Contact your state utility commission (p. 131) to find out whether you have a choice. Some commissions will provide a list of service providers and advice on making a choice, and most state utility commissions will take any complaints you have concerning utility sales and service.

STARTING UTILITY SERVICE

When you move into a new home or apartment, you may also be required to have the utility services (electricity, gas, water, waste removal, and cable) started in your name. Your city or county government may handle some services, such as water, sewer, and garbage collection. If you live in an apartment or are leasing a house from a homeowner, the landlord may handle this for you, but that is not required.

UTILITY SCAMS

Be alert to these common signs of utility scams:

- A company switches your utility provider without your permission.
- You receive a call claiming that your service will be cut off unless you pay immediately, using a prepaid debit card or wire transfer, (similar to paying with cash that can’t be retrieved).

Take steps to protect yourself:

- Review your utility bills, including the name of the service provider.
- Don’t give in to pressure to pay a utility bill that specifies you must pay in cash or by money wire.
- Verify your account status with your utility company, using contact information on a regular bill.

For more information or to file a complaint, contact:
- The Federal Trade Commission (p. 102)
- Your state utility commission (p. 131)

Notify the utility provider in advance of the date you need service to start. If you are moving, remember to have service turned off at your old address.

Each company may require you to pay a fee to start service. You may also be required to pay a deposit or allow the company to check your credit to establish service at your home. If any of these companies fails to meet its service requirements, file a complaint with the company. If that does not work, contact your state utility commission (p. 131).

In addition to your actual service, you may have other fees on your bill, such as administrative fees, public surcharges, or local taxes. Contact the service provider if you see charges you do not understand or did not authorize, or if

HEATING YOUR HOME WITH OIL

Heating your home with oil, instead of electricity, is common for many consumers. If you heat your home with oil, you have to choose an oil provider, a pricing system, and a service plan.

Comparison shop each year among local providers to get the best pricing and services you need. When you shop for a home heating oil provider, ask:

How is the oil priced per gallon?

- Fixed rate. You pay the same price throughout the season
- Market rate. You pay whatever the rate is on the day your oil is delivered.
- Capped rate. Your price can vary, but can’t exceed a set price.

What are your payment options?

- Prepay. You pay for all the oil you need for the winter before the season starts. Visit www.eia.gov to help you estimate the amount of fuel you’ll need.
- Cash on Delivery (C.O.D.). You pay for your oil upon delivery.

What type of oil provider do you need?

- Full service. The company sells oil and offers a service contract. Additional services can include automatic delivery, 24 hour emergency service, equipment maintenance, and installation of new equipment.
- Discount companies. The company only delivers oil, usually on a C.O.D. basis.

You should also find out the length of the contract term. It can last for a set number of months, or end on a specific date, regardless of the length of time.

Be sure that the oil provider and it’s technicians are fully certified, insured, and registered with your state's department of consumer protection or utility commission.

For more information, contact your state consumer protection agency (p. 106) or utility commission (p. 131).
you have difficulty making timely payments.

If you have difficulty paying your bills, especially for electricity or gas, help is available. Contact the company to find out if it has a program in place to help consumers. Also, your state’s utility commission (p. 131) may sponsor a program to either reduce your bill or make your payments based on a set amount of your income each month. Programs like these from utility companies and local government are usually based on your income. You may also consider applying for help through the Low Income Home Energy Assistance Program (LIHEAP). The benefits vary from state to state. Visit www.acf.hhs.gov/programs/ocs/programs/liheap or call 1-866-674-6327 for more information.

People at all economic levels benefit from an estate plan. Upon death, an estate plan legally protects and distributes property based on your wishes and the needs of your family and/or survivors with the fewest tax consequences.

As you make plans for the end of life, it is important to share details with family ahead of time. You should make sure you know whose names are on accounts with you, so that they can have access to them after your death. Also, if you have a reverse mortgage on your home, the entire amount of the loan will be due once you die. That could be a huge surprise for the person inheriting your home. If you are married, make sure your spouse knows how to access your accounts so that they can function financially. You may also choose to have a durable financial power of attorney. This person can manage your finances if you are unable to do so.

WILLS

A will is a practical first step in estate planning. It makes clear how you want your property to be distributed after you die. Writing a will can be as simple as typing out how you want your assets to be transferred to loved ones or charitable organizations. If you do not have a will when you die, your estate will be handled in probate, and your property could be distributed differently from what you would like. When writing your will, remember:

• In most states, you must be 18 years of age or older.
• To be valid, a will must be written when you are of sound judgment and have adequate mental capacity.
• The document must clearly state that it is your will.
• An executor of your will, who ensures your estate is distributed according to your wishes, must be named.
• It is not necessary to notarize or record your will, but doing so can safeguard any claims that it is invalid. For it to be valid, it must be signed in the presence of at least two witnesses.

WRITE A DIGITAL ASSET PLAN

More and more, the things you buy and own are intangible items, like digital books, music, and photos stored online. You may have online accounts with retailers, financial institutions, or digital media subscriptions for streaming TV and movies. In addition, some things are stored by companies on your behalf, like social media profiles, email accounts, airline frequent flyer miles, and credit card reward points.

What happens to these assets once you die? You should consider creating a digital asset plan. This document explains how you would like these assets and online accounts to be handled. You should appoint someone you trust as an digital asset executor. This person will be responsible for closing your online accounts, subscriptions, social media profiles, and handling all of your electronic assets after you are deceased. Take these steps to help you write a digital asset plan:

• Review the terms and conditions of each company where you have digital assets and profiles to know their policies when a customer dies.
• State how you would like your profiles to be handled. You may want to cancel your accounts or profiles completely or keep it open for friends and family to use.
• Include a list of all the companies where you have digital accounts, along with your usernames and passwords with your will.
• If the account is for a fee-based service, include the credit card or bank account numbers that are used to pay for the service so that the executor can contact the companies to stop the charges.
• Stipulate in your will that the executor of your digital asset plan should have a copy of your death certificate. He or she may need this as proof for websites and service providers to take any actions on your behalf.
• Check to see if the companies have account management features that let you assign access to friends and family, ahead of time.
Remember that giving someone power of attorney does not automatically make this person a beneficiary of your assets. After you die, this person will not have the right to the money or even the right to access your account. If you want this person to be a beneficiary, you must state it in your will.

TRUSTS

A trust is a legal document that states how you, the grantor, want your assets and possessions to be managed and distributed to your beneficiaries.

A living trust (inter vivos) is one that a grantor sets up while still alive, while an after-death trust (testamentary) is usually established by a will after your death. Living trusts can be irrevocable (can't be changed) or revocable (can be changed). The most common type of trust is the revocable living trust.

Any person who owns assets can create a trust. However, it does take time to set up a trust, and requires documentation to transfer your personal assets, bank accounts, deeds, and investments to the trust. It is recommended that you work with an estate attorney or financial planner to create the trust. Find out the licensing requirements with your state’s Bar or securities administrator or other regulatory offices. Be wary of pitches for creating a living trust from a salesperson; they could be a scam.

Some common reasons for setting up a trust include:
- Providing for minor children or family members who are inexperienced or unable to handle financial matters.
- Arranging for management of personal assets should one become unable to handle them yourself.
- Avoiding probate and immediately transferring assets to beneficiaries upon death.
- Reducing estate taxes and providing money to pay for them.
- Maintaining your privacy. The terms of a trust are not public record, unlike wills.

The costs to set up a trust can vary, depending on its complexity and the assets that have to be managed in the trust.

Role of a Trustee

A trustee is the person(s) or company that you choose to oversee your trust. The trust establishes who the trustee is, and states the guiding principles that the trustee should adhere to in managing the trust. The trust can be a spouse, partner, family member, financial professional or a bank’s trust department.

The trustee is responsible for managing the assets in the trust, even while you are alive but are physically or mentally incapacitated. Upon your death, the trustee gathers your assets, pays any outstanding expenses, debts, and taxes, and then distributes the remaining assets to your beneficiaries.

FUNERALS

One of the largest expenses many consumers will face is arranging for a funeral. Extras such as flowers, obituary...
WILLS AND FUNERALS

Planning ahead is the best way to make informed decisions about funeral arrangements. An advance plan also spares your family from having to make choices in the middle of grief and under time constraints. Every family is different, and funeral arrangements are influenced by religious and cultural traditions, budgets, and personal preferences. You are not legally required to use a funeral home to plan and conduct a funeral, but most people find that the services of a professional funeral home make the process easier. Comparison shopping, either in person or by phone, can save you money and is much easier when done in advance. Visit www.funerals.org to learn more about how to select a funeral home and research its history. Many funeral homes will also send you a price list by mail, but this is not required by law.

If you have a problem concerning funeral matters, it is best to try to resolve it first with the funeral home director. If you are dissatisfied, the Funeral Consumers Alliance (p. 105) may be able to advise you on how best to resolve your issue. You can also contact your state or local consumer protection agency (p. 102) or the Funeral Service Consumer Assistance Program at 1-800-662-7666. Most states have a licensing board that regulates the funeral industry. You can contact the board in your state for information or help.

Prepaying

Millions of Americans have entered into contracts to prearrange their funerals and prepay some or all of the expenses involved. Various states have laws to help ensure that these advance payments are available to pay for the funeral products and services when they are needed; however, protections vary widely from state to state. Some state laws require the funeral home or cemetery to place a percentage of the prepayment in a state-regulated trust or to purchase a life insurance policy with the death benefits assigned to the funeral home or cemetery. For a list of questions to consider before prepaying for a funeral, visit www.consumer.ftc.gov/articles/0305-planning-your-own-funeral.

WILL AND FUNERAL SCAMS

Be aware of these common signs of will and funeral scams:

- You are told that you must buy all services and burial materials as part of a package.
- You agree to prepay for funeral and burial services, but the company that you pay to handle it uses your money for other purposes instead.
- Aggressive sales tactics to get you to prepay for your burial, sell you trusts, or write your will.

Take steps to protect yourself:

- Research and interview several service providers.
- Get price lists, so that you can make comparisons.
- Read the contract before you sign and get all promises in writing. Don't leave blank spaces.

For more information or to file a complaint, contact:

- The Federal Trade Commission (p. 102)
- Your state consumer protection office (p. 106)

Notices, cards, and limousines can add to the cost. At such a highly emotional time, many people are easily swayed to believe that their decisions reflect how they feel about the deceased and wind up spending more than may be necessary.

Most funeral providers are professionals who work to serve their clients’ needs and best interests. Unfortunately, some do not and may take advantage of clients by insisting on unnecessary services and overcharging consumers. The Funeral Rule is a federal rule that regulates the actions of funeral directors, homes, and services.

Many funeral providers offer a variety of package plans that include products and services that are most commonly sold. Keep in mind, you are not obligated to buy a package. You have the right to buy the individual products and services you prefer. As outlined by the Funeral Rule:

- The funeral provider must state this “Rule” in writing on the general price list.
- You have the right to choose the funeral goods and services you want (with some exceptions).
- If state or local law requires you to buy any particular item, the funeral provider must disclose it on the price list, with a reference to the specific law.
- The funeral provider may not refuse, or charge a fee, to handle a casket that you bought elsewhere.
- A funeral provider who offers cremations must make alternative urns available.
- When prepaying for funeral services, do not agree to give the check from the life insurance company directly to the funeral home. You are paying for specific goods and services, and signing over the life insurance check might result in a significant overpayment for services rendered.

Visit www.consumer.ftc.gov/articles/0070-shopping-funeral-services for more information about the Funeral Rule.

Visit www.consumer.ftc.gov/articles/0070-shopping-funeral-services for more information about the Funeral Rule.

EMERGENCY PREPAREDNESS
Disasters can strike in many forms—fires, floods, hurricanes, tornadoes, and even national emergencies. Protecting yourself, your family, your pets, and your home or your business requires advance planning. It is equally important to know where to turn for help and information. You may even be eligible for government assistance.

There are numerous sources of information to help you prepare. To get started, check out these websites:

SERVICES AND RESOURCES FOR PERSONS WITH DISABILITIES

Relay Services: Telecommunications relay services link telephone conversations between individuals who use standard voice telephones and those who use text telephones (TTYS). Calls may be made from either type of telephone to the other type through the relay service.

Local Relay Services: States provide relay services for local and long-distance calls. Consult your local telephone directory for information on use, fees (if any), services, and dialing instructions for that area.

Federal Relay Service: The FRS, a program of the U.S. General Services Administration (GSA), provides access to TTY users who wish to conduct official business nationwide with, and within, the federal government. The toll free number is 1-800-877-8339. For more information on relay communications, or to obtain a brochure on using the FRS, call 1-800-877-0996.

Other Services: Consumers who are deaf or hard of hearing, or who have a speech impairment and use a TTY, may receive operator and directory assistance for calls by dialing 1-800-855-1155. Check the introductory pages of your local telephone directory for additional TTY services.
ACCESS TO THE SHARING ECONOMY

Some industries, such as car and home-sharing services, purchased only through apps, may not be required to follow the Americans with Disabilities Act. They may be exempt if they are a technology company that contracts out the actual work, like driving and hosting, to private individuals.

Before ordering services from these companies, find out if the service can accommodate wheelchairs, walkers, or service animals. If possible, contact the individual providing the service or a hotline to inform him or her of your needs. Visit www.ada.gov for more information about your rights under the Americans with Disabilities Act.

FOR PERSONS WITH DISABILITIES

These programs and services offer help and support to persons with disabilities.

Department of Education
Provides training and information to parents of disabled children and to people who work with them. See page 94 or visit www.ed.gov.

National Library Service for the Blind and Physically Handicapped
Administers a free loan service of recorded and Braille books and magazines, music scores in Braille and large print, plus specially designed playback equipment. Visit www.loc.gov/nls.

FOR MILITARY PERSONNEL

Today’s military families face many common consumer challenges as well as the additional stress associated with frequent moves and separation. To ease such difficulties, Family Centers, along with the other programs described in this section, provide help and support for military families.

U.S. Military Family Centers
Located on most military installations, Family Centers provide information, life skills education, and support services to military members and their families. Family Centers link people with appropriate services available in the local community and/or through state and federal assistance programs in health and human services, school systems, employment assistance, law enforcement, and recreation.

Air Force Community Readiness and Family Support
Airman and Family Readiness Centers (A&FRC) are located on every Air Force Installation and offer a wealth of resources to airmen and their families. They provide consultations on topics such as financial management, transition assistance, spouse employment, readiness, deployment, family life, and relocation assistance.

RESOURCES FOR MILITARY FAMILIES

Fleet and Family Support Programs
www.ffsp.navy.mil
The Fleet and Family Support Program provides support, references, information, and a wide range of assistance for members of the Navy and their families to meet the unique challenges of the military lifestyle.

Marine Corps Community Services (MCCS)
www.usmc-mccs.org
The Personal and Family Readiness Division provides a number of Marine Corps personnel service programs, including casualty assistance, DEERS dependency determination, voting assistance, postal services, and personal claims.

U.S. Army Family and Morale, Welfare and Recreation www.armymwr.com
This office provides support to Army personnel and families, including resources to strengthen home and family life, finances, employment, and other key resources.

U.S. Coast Guard
www.uscg.mil
The U.S. Coast Guard offers key resources, including core publications, career information and related news. It also covers background about its mission, community services, history, photos, and reports.

BEWARE: FRAUDS AGAINST SERVICEMEN
Servicemembers, especially new enlistees, are appealing targets for scammers. They receive a steady paycheck, plus reenlistment bonuses and deployment pay. In addition, military families move frequently and do not know which sellers to avoid. Scam artists also know that military personnel are required to keep their finances in good shape and may be more likely to pay a fake debt to keep their finances in good standing.

Take steps to protect yourself and your finances:

• Be wary of sellers or “investment professionals” that use their connection to the military to make a sale. See “Beware: Affinity Fraud” (p. 35).
• Protect yourself from identity theft by changing your mailing address when you are restationed.
• Contact the credit reporting agencies (p. 15) to place an active duty alert on your accounts. This limits the ability of ID thieves to apply for credit while a servicemember is deployed.
• Know your rights. The Servicemember Civil Relief Act extends consumers rights to service personnel; there is added protection from default judgements as well as the ability to cancel contracts and leases. Visit www.dmdc.osd.mil/appj/scra for more information.

BEWARE: FOR-PROFIT SCHOOLS
As a servicemember or veteran, you can receive GI bill benefits to finance a college education or career training. You may decide to use this benefit at a for-profit school. Be careful: recruiters at for-profit schools may overstate the quality of job offers or mislead you about your ability to transfer credits to other colleges. Several for-profits have closed recently, leaving students unable to complete their degree program. If you used your GI bill allowance to attend school, the amount of money you spent at the school can’t be recovered, and the credits probably won’t be transferable. You could also lose your GI bill housing and living expense allowances.

If you are thinking about going to a for-profit school:

• Read the VA’s publication to help you chose a school at www.benefits.va.gov/gibill/docs/factsheets/Choosing_a_School.pdf.
• Check out complaints filed against the school at www.vets.gov/gi-bill-comparison-tool.
• Read the contract before you sign. Do you have the right to cancel at any point?
• Ask what happens if the school closes down.
Contact the Department of Veterans Affairs (p. 101) or Federal Trade Commission (p. 102) if a for-profit school has deceived you or misused your GI bill allowance.

Military OneSource
Phone: 1-800-342-9647
www.militaryonesource.mil
Military OneSource is a comprehensive resource for military members and their families, relating to nearly every aspect of personal and professional life. Topics include health and wellness, finances, family matters, and resiliency. The website features blogs, discussion boards, and podcasts.
Commissaries and Exchanges
Consumers who have a question about, or problem with, a military commissary or exchange should contact the local manager before contacting the regional office. If your problem is not resolved at the local level, write to or call the regional office nearest you.

eBenefits National Resource Directory
www.nationalresourcedirectory.gov

The National Resource Directory is a partnership of the Departments of Defense and Veterans Affairs. This online directory connects service members and veterans with resources to benefit them and their families.

SaveandInvest.org www.saveandinvest.org/military

Whether on base or deployed overseas, it is crucial that military personnel have access to financial education resources that enable them to make prudent saving and investing decisions for themselves and their families. This site offers online and on-the-ground training to support military personnel at key financial milestones.

Veterans Cemeteries
All veterans are entitled to a free burial in a national cemetery and a grave marker. This eligibility also applies to some civilians who have provided military-related service and some Public Health Service personnel.

Spouses and dependent children also are entitled to a lot and marker when buried in a national cemetery. There are no charges for opening or closing the grave, for a vault or liner, or for setting the marker in a national cemetery. For more information, visit the Department of Veterans Affairs, National Cemetery Administration (p. 101) at www.cem.va.gov.

FOR SENIORS
Today’s seniors face many consumer challenges. They have to make complicated decisions about finances, retirement, and healthcare.

In addition, seniors must stay on the alert for the latest scams and frauds. They typically have a retirement “nest egg,” own equity in their homes that can be converted to cash, and have excellent credit. As seniors are considered as trusting and polite, scam artists take advantage of this, knowing older individuals might find it difficult to just say “no.” Finally, seniors are especially vulnerable to ID theft, as they frequently share their personal information (SSN, Medicare numbers) with doctors’ offices, caregivers, financial advisors, and other support professionals.

To ease these difficulties, the resources described here provide help and support to seniors.

Spending and Money Management
Sticking to a budget can be hard – especially if you are on a fixed income. You can get help planning your expenses, and learn how to reduce your costs.

• HUD Housing Counseling – Get help locating housing, and choosing the best option when buying, selling, or financing a home. Call 1-800-569-4287 or visit www.hud.gov/offices/hsg/sfh/hcc/hcs.cfm to locate a counseling agency in your community.

• MyMoney.gov – This website offers a collection of financial resources to help you throughout several life stages and major financial decisions.

• Money Smart for Older Adults – This guide from the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation and the Consumer Financial Protection Bureau helps seniors avoid frauds and scams, work with caregivers, and be financially fit. BEWARE: FRAUDS AGAINST SENIORS
Common types of frauds against seniors include:
• Caregiver fraud - A staff member at a nursing home or a friend or family member that helps you steals money from your accounts or trusts that were set up to manage your expenses.

• Health care or health insurance fraud - Involves seniors being billed for services or equipment they have never received.

• Housing fraud - In reverse mortgage scams, scammers in real estate, financial services, and related companies attempt to steal the equity from the property of unsuspecting seniors. They may also not tell you about the responsibilities to repay the loan, as soon as you move out or are deceased.

• ID theft - Scam artists use seniors’ personal information to apply for loans, file taxes, get medical care, or make purchases.

• Funeral and cemetery fraud - When they are unfamiliar with the expenses of funeral services, seniors face the risk of paying unnecessary charges.

• Telemarketing fraud - Scammers frequently attempt to cheat older individuals out of their money by selling bogus products and services over the phone.

• Investment schemes - As seniors plan for retirement, they may fall victim to advanced fee schemes, pyramid schemes, and other financial crimes.

• Internet fraud - Since web use has increased with seniors, they face a higher risk of scammers using email, online ads, pop ups, and search results to trick them into sending money and personal information.
KEY INFORMATION RESOURCES

PROTECT YOURSELF FROM SCAMS
The best way to avoid becoming a victim of scammers is to be an informed consumer. Take the steps to better protect yourself and your money.

• Don’t respond to unsolicited advertisements or calls. Stop telemarketing calls by signing up for the National Do Not Call Registry at www.donotcall.gov at 1-888-382-1222.
• Opt-out of credit card offers. Call 1-888-567-8688 or go online to www.optoutprescreen.com (you will have to give your SSN).
• Make sure any charities, sweepstakes, or raffles you give money to are legitimate. Call 1-877-829-5500 to get information about charities. Call 1-800-372-8347 for information about sweepstakes/mail fraud.
• Request your credit report. You are entitled to a free credit report once every 12 months from each of the three national credit bureaus. Call 1-877-322-8228 or visit www.annualcreditreport.com to get your report. Check for accounts you don’t recognize, suspicious charges, or unfamiliar addresses.
• Take your time. Don’t give in to high-pressure sales pitches, being rushed to participate or peer influence. Request written information, ask questions, and be sure you understand all the terms and conditions.
• Don’t disclose financial or personal information until you are confident of the legitimacy of the person.
• Research before you invest. Ask your attorney, accountant, financial advisor, or other licensed professional about the investment. Beware of any investment that promises or guarantees high profits, with little risk. (See “Beware: Affinity Fraud,” page 35). Also, discuss options with friends and family.

• National Institute on Aging – Find resources for seniors to get help with food costs. You can learn how to plan a food budget, and figure out ways to save money when grocery shopping. Call 1-800-225-2225 or visit www.nia.nih.gov.
• Senior Farmers Market Nutrition Program – Run by state agencies, this program provides low-income seniors with coupons that can be exchanged for eligible foods at farmers markets, roadside stands, and community-supported agriculture programs. Visit www.fns.usda.gov/sfmp/senior-farmers-market-nutrition-program-sfmpn to find your state’s office.
• AARP (p. 104) – Resources and tips to help consumers, 50 years and over, get discounts on daily life and major purchases. Call 1-888-687-2277 or visit www.aarp.org for more information.

Individual restaurants, retailers, and pharmacies offer discounts to seniors on their purchases. Your state may also offer a discount card for use at companies or specific types of services where you live. Contact the Department of Aging in your state for more information.

Saving & Investing
Knowing how to safely save and invest can make a big difference in your retirement years. Protect your hard-earned money and make the most of it.

• Office of Financial Protection for Older Americans – This office at the Consumer Financial Protection Bureau (p. 93) gives seniors information and tools to safely navigate financial decisions. Explore resources and tools for preventing others from taking your savings, understanding financial options after the loss of a loved one, and learning about your financial options later in life. This office also offers publications for financial caregivers, who are managing money for loved ones. Call 1-855-411-2372 or visit www.consumerfinance.gov/older-americans.
• Pension Benefit Guaranty Corporation (PBGC, p. 103) – PBGC insures most private sector defined pensions. Contact the PBGC if you had a defined pension through your employer, but you aren’t able to locate it or your pension plan failed. Call 1-800-400-7242 or visit www.pbgc.gov to locate your benefits.
• Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC, p. 103) – This agency offers resources to help you invest safely and protect your investments from fraud. Call 1-800-732-0330 or visit online at www.investor.gov/seniors.
• Social Security Administration (SSA, p. 103) – SSA offers a retirement planner to help you determine the right time to start collecting social security benefits. For more information on planning for retirement, family benefits, the difference between the Retirement Age and the Stop Work Age, and a step-by-step guide through the retirement process. Call 1-800-772-1213 or visit www.ssa.gov/planners/retire.

Health and Safety
Seniors are living longer and healthier lives than ever before, but unexpected accidents, illnesses, or injuries can quickly change your needs. It’s important to understand
FILE A COMPLAINT

Even the savviest consumer has problems with a product or service at one time or another. It is your right to complain if you have a genuine consumer problem. It is also your responsibility. A problem cannot be fixed if no one knows it exists. Use the graphic on page 61 to learn the basic steps to file a consumer complaint.

CONTACT THE SELLER

The first step in resolving a consumer problem is contacting the seller. You can solve most consumer problems by talking to a local salesperson or representative. If this fails, try going higher up to the national headquarters of the seller or the manufacturer of the item.

Many companies have a special customer relations or consumer affairs division whose primary function is solving consumer problems. You can often contact this division through a toll free number, postal mail, online form or contact information listed on the product label or warranty.

REPORT FRAUDS TARGETING SENIORS

One of the biggest problems seniors face is knowing where to report scams and frauds. Reporting scams and frauds can help agencies stop companies from acting unfairly and prevent others from becoming victims. Know which agency to contact, based on the type of fraud.

- Identity theft - Contact the Federal Trade Commission at 1-877-382-4357 or online at www.ftccomplaintassistant.gov.
- Medicare - Report fraud and abuse of Health and Human Services programs to the Office of Inspector General at 1-800-447-8477 or online at www.oig.hhs.gov/fraud/report-fraud.
- Housing - Report housing related complaints to the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development at 1-800-669-9777 or online at portal.hud.gov/hudportal/HUD?src=/complaints_home.
- Internet - File complaints about Internet-based frauds with the Internet Crime Complaint Center (IC3) online at www.ic3.gov.
- Investment - Contact the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) Center at 1-800-732-0330 or online at www.sec.gov/complaint.shtml. Contact the FINRA Senior hotline at 1-844-574-3577 if you have concerns about a brokerage account or investments.
- Financial Services – File a complaint with the Consumer Financial Protection Bureau about mortgages, auto and student loans, and other financial services by calling 1-855-411-2372 or visiting www.consumerfinance.gov/complaint.
- If you’re not sure where to file a complaint, contact the Senate Special Committee on Aging Fraud Hotline for issues ranging from retirement savings, identity theft, phone scams, Medicare, and Social Security at 1-855-303-9470 or online at www.aging.senate.gov/fraud-hotline or your state consumer protection office (p. 106).

- Aging.gov (p. 95) - Aging.gov is a comprehensive resource for healthy aging, covering a range of topics including Social Security benefits, long-term care, retirement planning and security, Medicare enrollment, and services available in your state. Call 1-877-696-6775 or visit www.aging.gov for more details.
- Eldercare Locator (p. 96) - The Eldercare Locator connects older Americans, their families, and caregivers with trustworthy services provided by local agencies, state, and community organizations to help older adults live independently and safely in their homes for as long as possible. Call 1-800-677-1116 or visit www.eldercare.gov for more information.
- Longtermcare.gov – The website www.longtermcare.gov helps you plan for the possibility of long-term care. It gives you time to learn about services in your community, and allows you to make important housing, health, legal, and financial decisions while you are still able. Review your Social Security, pension, and savings so you’re financially prepared for your future.
- Medicare – Medicare offers health insurance to seniors. Call 1-800-633-4227 or visit www.medicare.gov to learn more about the different plans.
- Senior Health – The website www.nihseniorhealth.gov makes age-related health information from the National Institutes of Health easily accessible for older adults and caregivers.
- Ready.gov - Ready.gov/seniors helps you prepare for a natural disaster or emergency. Get information to make sure that you still receive federal benefits, shelter, and any medical attention you may need.

If this is not the case:

- Check the Corporate Consumer Directory portion of this Handbook for the contact information of several hundred corporations (p. 72).
- Visit the company’s website and look for a “Contact Us”, “About Us”, Customer Service”, or “Privacy Policy” link.
- Dial the directory of toll free numbers at 1-800-555-1212 to see whether the company has a toll free number listed.
- Ask your local librarian to assist you. Most public libraries have reference books with corporate contact information.
- As you do your search, keep in mind that the name of the manufacturer or parent company is often different from the brand name. ThomasNet, an online database of manufacturers, may be helpful.
- With each person you contact, calmly and accurately explain the problem and what action you would like to be taken. A written letter is a good strategy because you will have a record of your communication with the company. The sample letter (p. 60) will help you prepare a written complaint.
- Be brief and to the point. Note all important facts about your purchase, including what you bought, serial or model numbers, the name and location of the seller, and when you made the purchase.
- State exactly what you want done about the problem and how long you are willing to wait for a response. Be reasonable.
- Don’t write an angry, sarcastic, or threatening letter. The person reading your letter probably was not responsible for your problem but could be very helpful in resolving it.
- Send your letter by certified mail or request delivery confirmation.
- Include copies of all documents regarding your problem. Keep the originals.
- Provide your name, address, and phone numbers. If an account is involved, be sure to include the account number.
- Keep a record of your efforts to contact the seller; include the name of the person with whom you spoke and what was done, if anything. You should also keep a record of the dates and times of your contact.
- If you use a company’s online complaint form, print the screen or take a screenshot before you click “submit” so that you have a record of your complaint.

CONTACT THIRD PARTIES

Don't give up if you are not satisfied with the seller's response to your complaint. Once you have given the seller a reasonable amount of time to respond, consider filing a complaint with one or more of these outside organizations:

State or local consumer protection offices (p. 106).
These government agencies mediate complaints, conduct investigations, and prosecute those who break consumer laws.

State regulatory agencies that have jurisdiction over the business. For example, banking (p. 119), insurance (p. 123), securities (p. 127), and utilities (p. 131) are regulated at the state level.

State and local licensing agencies. Doctors, lawyers, home improvement contractors, auto repair shops, realtors, debt collectors, and child care providers are required to register or be licensed. The board or agency that oversees this process may handle complaints and have the authority to take disciplinary action. Your state or local consumer protection office (p. 106) can help you identify the appropriate agency.

Better Business Bureau (p. 67). This network of nonprofit organizations supported by local businesses tries to resolve buyer complaints against sellers. Records are kept on unresolved complaints as a source of information for the seller’s future customers. The umbrella organization for the BBBs assists with complaints concerning the truthfulness of national advertising and helps to settle "lemon law" disputes with automobile manufacturers through the BBB AUTO LINE program (p. 66).

Trade associations. Companies that sell or produce similar products or services often belong to an industry association that will help resolve problems between its members and consumers (p. 135).

National consumer organizations. Some of these organizations assist consumers with complaints (p. 104).

Media programs. Local newspapers, radio stations, and television stations often have action lines or hotline services that try to resolve consumer complaints they receive. Call for Action, Inc. (p. 104) is a nonprofit network of consumer hotlines that educate and assist individuals with consumer problems.

DISPUTE RESOLUTION PROGRAMS

Some companies and industries offer programs to address disagreements between buyers and sellers. The auto industry (p. 65) has several of these programs. The Financial Industry Regulatory Authority (p. 136) offers a program to resolve investment-related disputes.

Mediation, arbitration, and conciliation are three common types of dispute resolution. During mediation, both sides involved in the dispute meet with a neutral third party and create their own agreement jointly. In arbitration, the third party decides how to settle the problem. Conciliation is similar; however, you and the other party meet with the conciliator separately (not a group meeting). Request a copy of the rules of any program before deciding to participate. You will want to know beforehand whether the decision is binding; some programs do not require both parties to accept the decision. Also ask whether participation in the program places any restrictions on your ability to take other legal action.

MANDATORY ARBITRATION

Mandatory arbitration clauses in contracts prevent you from filing a lawsuit against a company. These clauses are fairly common in automotive, credit card, and cell phone contracts. But now, they are appearing in the terms and conditions on websites, coupons, or corporate social media profiles. While arbitration can be less expensive, it is sometimes seen as unfair to make arbitration a requirement before a negative incident has happened or knowing how serious the problem is. Also, the decisions are binding, so you can’t appeal the decision, even if the company was severely negligent.

Before you sign a contract or even use a website, read the contract or terms of service for mentions of “arbitration”, “binding arbitration” or “resolution programs”; This language is often in the fine print of the contract and can be easily missed. Also, note that some companies may let you opt-out of these clauses, if you do so within a set period of time.

NON-DISPARAGEMENT CLAUSES

Have you ever posted a review of a company on a blog or social media, after a bad experience? Some companies add “non-disparagement clauses” to contracts. These clauses are meant to prevent customers posting negative comments about the company or its products or services. These clauses threaten financial penalties or legal action if you do so, even if the comments are true. Before you buy, or post that comment:

- Read the contract and terms of service carefully, especially the fine print. Search for phrases like “negative review”, “comment policy”, or “non-disparagement”.
- Search for the company’s name on popular review websites. If you see some negative comments (and positive ones), you can know that the doesn’t engage in non-disparagement policies.

SMALL CLAIMS COURT

Small claims courts resolve disputes over small amounts of money. Court procedures are generally simple, inexpensive, quick, and informal. Additionally court fees are minimal. You probably will not need a lawyer. Even though the court is informal, the judge’s decision must be followed.

If you file a case and win, the losing party should give you what the court says you are owed without further action on your part. If the losing party refuses to follow the court’s decision, you can go back to court and ask for the order to be enforced. Depending on local laws, law enforcement officials might sell a person’s property, or take money from a bank account or business cash register.

Check your local telephone book under the municipal, county, or state government headings for small claims court offices. If you have more questions, the court’s clerk may be able to answer your questions.

LEGAL HELP AND INFORMATION

If you need an attorney to advise or represent you, ask friends and family for recommendations. You can also contact the Lawyer Referral Service of your state, county, or city bar association listed in your local phone directory. Websites such as www.americanbar.org (American Bar Association) and www.nolo.com can help you with answers to general legal questions.

Choosing an Attorney

Many lawyers who primarily serve individuals and families are general practitioners with experience in frequently needed legal services, such as divorce and family matters, wills and probate, bankruptcy and debt problems, real estate, and criminal and/or personal injury. Be sure the lawyer you are considering has experience in the area for which you are seeking help.
Once you have identified some candidates:

- Call each attorney and describe your legal issue to find out whether they handle your situation.
- Ask if you will be charged for an initial consultation.
- Ask for an estimate of what the lawyer usually charges to handle your kind of case.
- Ask whether there are hourly charges, or if your attorney accepts a percentage of the settlement as a contingency fee. If the lawyer is paid by a contingency fee, then he or she will only receive a payment if they win your case.

The initial consultation is an opportunity for you and the lawyer to get to know each other. After listening to the description of your case, the lawyer should be able to outline your rights and liabilities, as well as alternative courses of action. The initial consultation is the lawyer’s opportunity to explain what he or she can do for you and how much it will cost. You should not hesitate to ask about the attorney’s experience in handling matters such as yours. Also, do not hesitate to ask about the lawyer’s fees and the likely results. If you are considering going beyond the initial consultation and hiring the lawyer, request a written fee agreement before proceeding.

What If You Cannot Afford a Lawyer?

If you cannot afford a lawyer, you may qualify for free legal help from a Legal Aid or Legal Services Corporation (LSC) office. These offices generally offer legal assistance for such things as landlord-tenant relations, credit, utilities, family matters (for example, divorce and adoption), foreclosure, home equity fraud, Social Security benefits, welfare, unemployment, and workers’ compensation. If the Legal Aid office in your area does not handle your type of case, it may refer you to other local, state, or national organizations that can provide help.

- To find the Legal Aid office nearest to you, check a local telephone directory or contact:
  National Legal Aid & Defender Association
  1901 Pennsylvania Ave., NW Suite 500
  Washington, DC 20006
  Phone: 202-452-0620
  www.nlada.org

- To find the Legal Services Corporation (LSC) office closest to you, check a local telephone directory or contact:
  Legal Services Corporation Public Affairs
  3333 K St., NW
  Washington, DC 20007
  Phone: 202-295-1500
  www.lsc.gov

Free assistance may also be available from a local law school program where students, supervised by attorneys, handle a variety of legal matters. Some of these programs are open to all; others limit their service to specific groups, such as senior citizens or low-income persons.

REPORT FRAUD AND SAFETY HAZARDS

If you suspect a law has been violated, contact your local or state consumer protection agency (p. 106). This agency may take action or refer you to another state organization that has authority where you live. A local law enforcement officer may also be able to provide advice and assistance.

Violations of federal laws should be reported to the federal agency responsible for enforcement. While federal agencies are rarely able to act on behalf of individual consumers, complaints are used to document patterns of abuse, allowing the agency to take action against a company or industry.

If you suspect fraud, there are some additional steps to take:

- Report the fraud to the Federal Trade Commission (p. 102).
- Report scams that use the mail or interstate delivery service to the U.S. Postal Inspection Service (p. 103). It is illegal to use the mail to misrepresent or steal money.
- Report scams that are Internet-based to the Internet Crime Complaint Center at www.ic3.gov.

Reporting fraud promptly improves your chances of recovering what you have lost and helps law enforcement authorities stop scams before others are victimized.

If you suspect you have a product that poses a health or safety hazard, report the problem to the appropriate federal agency:

- Animal Products. Food and Drug Administration (p. 96)
- Automobiles. National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (p. 100)
- Consumer Household Products. U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission (p. 93)
- Drugs, Cosmetics, and Medical Devices. Food and Drug Administration (p. 96)
- Food. Food and Drug Administration (p. 96), U.S. Department of Agriculture (p. 93)
- Household Chemicals. Environmental Protection Agency (p. 101)
- Seafood. Food and Drug Administration (p. 96), U.S. Department of Commerce (p. 94)
- Toys, Baby Products, and Play Equipment. U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission (p. 93)

SOCAP INTERNATIONAL

Many of the companies listed in this Handbook are members of the Society of Consumer Affairs Professionals International (SOCAP). Formed in 1973, SOCAP is composed of over 2,000 best-in-class customer care executives and professionals from over 100 brand name companies throughout the U.S. and Canada. SOCAP is committed to promoting customer care and engagement as competitive advantages. However, SOCAP International does not investigate or accept individual consumer complaints. SOCAP members are identified in the automotive and corporate directories by the SOCAP logo (see Key at right). For more information, contact SOCAP (p.133).

Contact Your Automotive Manufacturer

If you have a problem with a car you purchased from a local dealer, first try to work it out with the dealer. Contact the manufacturer’s regional or national office. Ask for the Consumer Affairs Office. If the problem is not resolved.

If you are still unsuccessful, consider contacting the automotive dispute resolution resources listed at the end of this section. The method used to resolve your dispute may be mediation, arbitration, or conciliation. Decisions of arbitrators are usually binding and must be accepted by both the customer and the business. Ask for a copy of the rules of the program before you file your case. See page 62 for an overview of dispute resolution programs.

A local or state consumer agency (p. 106) could also be a useful resource in resolving problems with your vehicle. If you have a new vehicle, be sure to ask whether you have any protection under a state “lemon” law (p. 11).

Contact Corporate Consumer Affairs Departments
The following directory lists the addresses and phone numbers for hundreds of corporations. Many companies have a consumer affairs department that handles consumer questions and concerns. Consumer affairs offices are set up within companies because they want to hear from you. If you do not find the company you are looking for, try checking your public libraries for the following resources:

- The Standard & Poor’s Register of Corporations, Directors and Executives
- Trade Names Directory
- Standard Directory of Advertisers
- Dun & Bradstreet Directory

Check the product label and other documents given to you at the time of your purchase to identify the name of a company that manufactures a specific product. ThomasNet, an online database of manufacturers, might also be helpful.

If you have a complaint about an item or service, it is usually best to go back to the seller BEFORE you contact the companies in this directory. Follow up with a letter, phone call, or email message to the consumer affairs department of the company to let it know about your complaint, and whether the seller was able to resolve your problem. You may express your complaint on a company’s social media profile to get quick attention to your problem.

Contact Federal Agencies

Many federal agencies have enforcement and/or complaint-handling duties for products and services used by the general public. Others act for the benefit of the public, but do not resolve individual consumer problems. Agencies also create printed publications, and websites that may be helpful when making purchase decisions or dealing with consumer problems. Some agencies provide timely information to citizens through profile pages and videos on social media outlets, blogs, text messages, and news feeds. Call toll free 1-844-872-4681 to get help determining the right agency to contact.

The officials listed below regulate and supervise state-chartered banks. Many of them handle or refer problems and complaints about other types of financial institutions as well. Some also answer general questions about banking and consumer credit. If you are dealing with a federally-chartered bank, check Federal Agencies on page 93. Also see the chart in the Banking section on page 8.

Contact Your Local Insurance Regulator

The offices listed below enforce laws and regulations for each type of insurance. Many of these offices can also provide you with information to help you make informed insurance-buying decisions. See the Insurance section in Part I of this Handbook for advice (p. 29).

If you have a question or complaint about your insurance company’s policies, contact the company before you contact your state insurance regulator.

Note: Toll free phone numbers may be restricted to use only within the state listed.

Contact Your Local Securities Administrator

State securities regulators protect the investing public. Each state has its own laws and regulations for securities brokers and securities, including stocks, mutual funds, commodities, real estate, and more. The agencies listed below enforce these laws and regulations. They also license securities professionals, register securities, and investigate consumer complaints. While these agencies do not provide investment advice, many of them offer educational resources so investors can make informed investment decisions.

Contact the company involved if you have a question or complaint about an investment. If you are not satisfied with the response you get, contact your state securities administrator.

Note: Toll free phone numbers may be restricted to use only within the state listed.

Contact Your Local Utilities Commission

State utilities commissions regulate services and rates for gas, electricity, and telephones in your state. In some states, the utility commissions regulate other services such as water, transportation, and the moving of household goods. Rates for utilities and services provided between states are regulated by the federal government.

Many utilities commissions handle consumer complaints. Sometimes, if they receive a number of complaints about the same utility matter, they will conduct investigations.

Note: Toll free phone numbers may be restricted to use only within the state listed.

This alphabetical index will help you find the right organization to contact for information or for assistance with your complaint. First, look for the specific topic, for example, Cars. Under this topic there will be one or more contacts, followed by the Handbook page number(s). Sometimes you will be directed to “See” another entry for information and a list of contacts. “See also” references direct you to other topics that might be related to your problem and may help you locate the right contact. For company names see the alphabetical listings under “Corporate Consumer Contacts” (p. 72), and “Automotive Manufacturers” (p. 65).
